SO'Z BOSHI

Mamlakatimizni yanada rivojlantirish uchun oldimizda turgan ustuvor vazifalarni professional darajada bajarishga qodir yoshlarni tarbiyalash, iqtisodiyot tarmoqlari va ijtimoiy sohani yuqori malakali kadrlar bilan ta'minlash maqsadida, shuningdek 2017 — 2021-yillarda O'zbekiston Respublikasini rivojlantirishning beshta ustuvor yo'nalishi bo'yicha Harakatlar strategiyasini oid davlat dasturiga muvofiq ta'lim sohasi va bu borada chet tillarini o'rganish va o'rgatish masalasi juda ahamiyatlidir.

Bunda yoshlarning chet tillarini mukammal o'rganishi uchun yetarli shart-sharoitlar yaratilib, yosh avlod vakillariga chet tilini o'rgatishga alohida e'tibor qaratilmoqda. Shu bilan birga, yosh kadrlar salohiyatini oshirish maqsadida bir qator hayrli va ezgu ishlar amalga oshirilayapti. Bunga O'zbekiston Respublikasi Vazirlar Mahkamasining 2017 yil 11 avgustdagi "Ta'lim muassasalarida chet tillarini o'qitishning sifatini yanada takomillashtirish chora-tadbirlari to'g'risida"gi 610-sonli qarori misol bo'la oladi.

Ma'lumki, yurtimizda chet tillarini o'qitish mustaqilligimizning dastlabki yillaridanoq muhim vazifalardan biri sifatida belgilangan. Chet tillarini o'rganish va o'qitishga e'tibor, 2012 yil 10 dekabrda "Chet tillarini o'rganish tizimini yanada takomillashtirish chora-tadbirlari to'g'risida"gi qarori qabul qilingandan keyin yanada kuchaydi. Mazkur qarorda chet tillarini o'qitishdagi yutuqlar bilan birga, ta'lim standartlari, o'quv dasturlari va darsliklar zamon talablariga, xususan, ilg'or axborot va media texnologiyalardan foydalanish borasidagi talabga to'liq javob bermayotgani, ta'lim asosan zamonaviy usullarda olib borilayotgani, ta'lim tizimining barcha bosqichlarida chet tillarni uzluksiz o'rganishni tashkil qilish, shuningdek, o'qituvchilar malakasini oshirish hamda zamonaviy o'quv-uslubiy materiallar bilan ta'minlashga oid kamchiliklar ham ko'rsatilgan.

So'nggi yillarda mamlakatimizda amalga oshirilayotgan islohotlar natijasida ulkan iqtisodiy o'sish ko'rsatkichlariga erishilayotganligi barcha sohalarda malakali kadrlar va yetuk mutaxassislariga bo'lgan talabni yanada oshirmoqda. Bunda o'z-o'zidan o'quvchilarimizning darslarga qiziqish xususiyatini oshirish va o'qituvchilarning har tomonlama ta'lim tarbiyaga e'tiborini kuchaytirish va muntazam ularning olayotgan bilim va ko'nikmalarini mustahkamlash muammosi yotadi. Bu borada O'zbekiston Respublikasi Xalq ta'limi vazirining 2017-yil 16-sentabrdagi "2017-2018 o'quv yilida ta'lim sifati monitoring tizimini yanada takomillashtirish va tashkil etish to'g'risida"gi 299-sonli buyrug'ining 4-bandida "Monitoring jarayoni uchun nazorat (testlar, yozma ishlar, so'rovnoma, og'zaki savollar, audio(video) materiallarini tayyorlashda ularning umumiy hajmiga nisbatan 20 % gacha o'quvchilarning psixofiziologik xususiyatlariga mos keladigan, o'quv dasturi va darsliklardan tashqari, xalqaro tajribalarda qo'llanilgan materiallardan foydalanish mumkin"ligi belgilab qo'yilganligi ushbu qo'llanmaning zaruriy ahamiyatini ko'rsatadi.

Ushbu qo'llanma ingliz tili darslarida talaba olgan bilimlarini testlar orqali mustahkamlab borish bu bilimlarni uzoq muddat xotirada muhrlanishiga asos bo'ladi. Bunda aynan ushbu qo'llanma asosiy ko'makchi bo'la oladi. Uning muhim afzalliklaridan biri testlar grammatik mavzular bo'yicha toifalarga ajratilgan. Bu esa aynan bitta mavzuga tegishli testlarni yechgan holda olingan bilimlarni tekshirib ko'rish imkonini beradi.

Shuningdek, qo'llanmada mavzulashtirilgan holda dastlabki tushunchalar mujassamlashgan matnlar, grammatik materiallar, ko'plab mashqlardan hamda ingliz tilida qo'shimcha o'qish uchun grammatik qoidalar va misollardan iborat. Ushbu qo'llanma bu yo'ldagi dastlabki urinish bo'lganligi sababli qo'llanma haqidagi fikr va mulohazalar tuzuvchi tomonidan mamnuniyat bilan qabul qilinadi va albatta e'tiborga olinadi.

10. Adrenaline shot through his body and the ability to control his appendages was becoming increasingly more difficult in the icy water. He knew that if he didn't rescue the people from the ocean right now, there would be no hope for them due to hypothermia, among other things. There were no do ... when the ocean was this turbulent and cold.

SOME USEFUL ENGLISH LEARNING MATERIALS

ARTICLES

The 3 articles in English are a, an and the. The learner has to decide noun-by-noun which one of the articles to use*. In fact, there are 4 choices to make, because sometimes no article is necessary. Native-speakers, of course, use the articles correctly without thinking in everyday spoken language. English learners, on the other hand, need to have some guidelines for making the right choice - particularly those learners whose own language does not have articles, such as Japanese or Korean. The guidelines that follow here should help ESL students to a basic understanding of English article use.

The most important first step in choosing the correct article is to categorize the noun as count or uncount *in its context:

- A count noun is a noun that can have a number in front of it: 1 teacher, 3 books, 76 trombones, 1,000,000 people.

- An uncount noun is a noun that cannot have a number put in front of it: ~~1~~ water, ~~2~~ lucks, ~~10~~ airs, ~~21~~ oils, ~~39~~ informations. Once you have correctly categorized the noun (using your dictionary if necessary), the following "rules" apply:

Uncount nouns

- You cannot say a/an with an uncount noun.
- You cannot put a number in front of an uncount noun. (You cannot make an uncount noun plural.)
- You use an uncount noun with no article if you mean that thing in general.
- You use the with an uncount noun when you are talking about a particular example of that thing.

Count nouns

- You can put a number in front of a count noun. (You can make a count noun plural.)
- You can put both a/an and the in front of a count noun.
- You must put an article in front of a singular count noun.
- You use a plural count noun with no article if you mean all or any of that thing.
- You usually use a/an with a count noun the first time you say or write that noun.
- You use the with count nouns:
 - the second and subsequent times you use the noun in a piece of speech or writing
 - when the listener knows what you are referring to (maybe because there is only one of that thing)
- You use an (not a) when the next word (adverb, adjective, noun) starts with a vowel sound.

CONDITIONALS

A conditional sentence is a sentence containing the word if. There are three common types* of conditional sentence:

1. if clause > present simple tense : main clause > future tense (will)
 - If you help me, I will help you.
 - If I win the lottery, I will buy a new car.
 - If it snows tomorrow, we will go skiing.
2. if clause > past simple tense : main clause > would
 - If you knew her, you would agree with me.
 - If I won the lottery, I would buy a new car.
 - If it snowed tomorrow, we would go skiing.
3. if clause > past perfect tense : main clause > would have
 - If you had helped me, I would have helped you.
 - If I had won the lottery, I would have bought a new car.
 - If it had snowed yesterday, we would have gone skiing.

Of course, it is possible to start conditional sentences with the main clause:

- I will buy a new car if I win the lottery.
- I would buy a new car if I won the lottery.
- I would have bought a new car if I had won the lottery.

English speakers choose one of the three conditional structures as follows:

1. Conditional one - to express a simple statement of fact or intent
 - I will buy a new car if I win the lottery.
 - I will go home if you don't stop criticizing me.
 - You will fail your exams if you don't start working harder.
 - She will lose all her friends if she continues to talk about them behind their backs.
2. Conditional two - to refer to a present unreal situation or to a situation in the future that the speaker thinks is unlikely to happen
 - If I had a lot of money, I would buy a new car. (but I don't have a lot of money)
 - If I were you, I would tell him you're sorry. (but I am not you)
 - If I won the lottery, I would buy a new house. (but I don't expect to win the lottery)
 - If it snowed tomorrow, we would go skiing. (but I don't have much hope that it will snow)
3. Conditional three - to refer to the past and situations that did not happen
 - If it had snowed yesterday, we would have gone skiing. (but it didn't snow, so we didn't go skiing)
 - If you had studied harder, you would have passed your test. (but you didn't study hard, so you didn't pass your test)
 - If I had known that, I would have told you. (but I didn't know, so I didn't tell you)
 - If she hadn't been driving slowly, she would have had an accident. (but she was driving slowly, so she didn't have an accident)

REPORTED SPEECH

We often want to tell someone what another person has said to us. In most cases we do not report the exact words that we hear. Instead we make some changes so that what we say sounds more natural. This is called reported speech (or indirect speech). Here are some examples:

- Miho told me that she's returning to Japan next year.
- He said that you're angry with me.
- The teacher told me to go to the office.
- She asked if you were feeling better.
- She wanted to know if I had ever ridden a horse.*

* In writing, particularly in fiction writing, it is common to use direct speech: She asked me: "Have you ever ridden a horse?" Please note, however, that direct speech is most unusual in spoken language.

Reported speech can also include thoughts or words that are the reporter's summary of what was said. Here are some examples:

- I wonder if she can come to my party.
- I don't know why he shouted at me.
- Do you think that she likes me?
- She begged me not to tell the teacher.
- She apologized for being late.
- John realized that he had left his violin on the bus.*
- She persuaded me to tell her my secret.

* In the last sentence, it may be that John never said anything like: "I realized that I'd left my violin on the bus." The reporter, in relating what John told him, is summarizing what happened to John in the reporter's own words. This is a common aspect of reported speech.

As noted above when we report words or thoughts we need to make some changes to make what we say sound natural. Some of these changes may be as easy as changing pronouns or correcting time references:

- "I can't come to your party." - She said she can't come to my party.
- "My mother called me today." - He said his mother called that day.

In many cases more extensive changes are needed to produce correct and natural-sounding reported speech, particularly when reporting questions or commands.

Here are some examples:

- "Do you have children?" - He asked me if I have children.
- "Did you go to the party?" - She wanted to know if I went to the party.
- "What's the time?" - She asked me what the time was.
- "Please speak more slowly!" - She requested that I speak more slowly.
- "Do not open that box!" - She told me not to open the box.

GERUND

Gerund is the name given to the present participle form of a verb that is used as a noun. In the following sentences the gerund is shown in red:

- Smoking is bad for your health. (gerund as subject)
- A popular hobby in England is stamp-collecting. (gerund as complement)
- I dislike shopping. (gerund as object)

Gerunds are not difficult to use as subjects or complements, as in the above sentences. The problem arises when the learner wants to use the verb-noun as an object and does not know whether the gerund or the infinitive is required. Here are some examples of the variety of use:

- She doesn't enjoy working on Sundays. (gerund only)
- She objects to working on Sundays. (gerund only)
- She agreed to work on Sunday. (infinitive only)
- She hates to work on Sundays. / She hates working on Sundays. (both infinitive and gerund possible: same meaning)
- She stopped eating. (gerund - meaning: she did not eat any more)
- She stopped to eat. (infinitive - meaning: she stopped what she was doing and started to eat)

This is a difficult aspect of English grammar. The learner must use the dictionary carefully case-by-case to make the correct choice of gerund or infinitive.

PASSIVE

The passive is a grammar construction that uses the auxiliary to be and the past participle of a verb:.

- My camera has been stolen.
- The Mona Lisa was painted in 1503.
- We are being followed.
- She was seriously injured in the car crash.
- You will be told when to come.
- The school was built just after the war.
- The ski race has been cancelled due to lack of snow.

The passive has two main functions:

Firstly, we use the passive when we are more interested in what happened than who did it. For example, in saying My camera has been stolen the speaker is conveying important information about his camera. The camera is the focus of interest, and so the speaker has made it the subject of the sentence. He does not know or care who took it. Similarly, in the sentence The Mona Lisa was painted in 1503 the speaker wants to tell us when the painting was done. She is not interested in telling us who painted it, or maybe she expects us to already know that it was painted by Leonardo da Vinci.

The passive can be used in all tenses. The following list has examples of the most common uses:

- The classrooms are cleaned every afternoon. (present simple)
- A new road is being built behind the school. (present continuous)

- The boy was seen spraying paint on the wall. (past simple)
- I was late because the road was being repaired. (past continuous)
- The car thief has been caught. (present perfect)
- The painting had been damaged during the war. (past perfect)
- You will be shown how to do it. (future)
- It must be done. (modal verb + simple infinitive)
- She likes to be praised when she does well. (infinitive with to)
- I hate being watched when I'm working. (gerund)

Note: In all the above sentences, it is not important to the speaker that s/he tells us who (e.g., who cleans the classrooms, who is building the road behind the school, who saw the boy spraying paint). Important is: what (or when, why, how). The second important reason why we use the passive is to follow the typical English sentence pattern of Given-New. This means putting given or old information at the beginning of the sentence (as the subject), and following it with new information (as the predicate). Example:

The second world war began in September 1939. It was caused by the invasion of Poland by German troops. At this time Poland was governed by the Polish Socialist Party.

COMPARATIVE/SUPERLATIVE

Comparative is the name for the grammar used when comparing two things. The two basic ways to compare are using as .. as or than. Examples of each are shown below:

- She's twice as old as her sister.
- He's not as stupid as he looks!
- I'm almost as good in maths as in science.
- This book is not as exciting as the last one.
- The cafeteria is not as crowded as usual.
- Russian is not quite as difficult as Chinese.
- This computer is better than that one.
- She's stronger at chess than I am.
- It's much colder today than it was yesterday.
- Our car is bigger than your car.
- This grammar topic is easier than most others.
- I find science more difficult than mathematics.
- Today's ESL lesson was more interesting than usual.

Note: In each of the example sentences above, the comparative form of the adjective is shown. See the foot of this page for information about the comparison of adverbs.

When comparing with as .. as, the adjective does not change. When comparing with than, however, some changes are necessary, depending on the number of syllables the adjective has:

1-syllable adjectives: add -er to the adjective

- My sister is much taller than me. †
- It's colder today than it was yesterday.

Note: If the word ends: consonant-vowel-consonant, then the last consonant is usually doubled in the comparative. Examples: big-bigger, fat-fatter, hot-hotter.

2-syllable adjectives ending in -y: change the -y to -ier

- She's looking happier today.
- This grammar topic is easier than the last one.
- Why is everyone else luckier than me? †

Beware: Do not confuse adjectives and adverbs. 2-syllable adverbs ending in -y must be compared with the word more. Example: I drive more quickly (quicker) than my brother.

Other 2-syllable adjectives: use more with the unchanged adjective

- The shops are always more crowded just before Christmas.
- Is there anything more boring than reading about grammar?
- My sister is more careful with her writing than I am with mine.

Note: The comparative of some shorter 2-syllable adjectives can be formed with -er. Examples: simple-simpler, clever-cleverer, narrow-narrower. To be sure which comparative method to use, you will need to consult a good dictionary.

Adjectives with 3 or more syllables: use more with the unchanged adjective

- Russian grammar is more difficult than English grammar.
- My sister is much more intelligent than me. †
- I find maths lessons more enjoyable than science lessons.
- The older you get, the more irritating you become.

In the superlative you talk about one thing only and how it is the best, worst, etc. You do not compare two things. The following guidelines apply to the superlative:

1-syllable adjectives: add -est to the adjective (plus the)

- My sister is the tallest in our family.
- Yesterday was the coldest day of the year so far.

Note: If the word ends: consonant-vowel-consonant, then the last consonant is usually doubled in the superlative. Examples: big-biggest, fat-fattest, hot-hottest.

2-syllable adjectives ending in -y: change the -y to -iest (plus the)

- The richest people are not always the happiest.
- Which do you think is the easiest language to learn?
- She's the luckiest person I know.

Beware: Do not confuse adjectives and adverbs. 2-syllable adverbs ending in -y form their superlative with the words the most. Example: Of all the people I know my father drives the most quickly (quickest).

Other 2-syllable adjectives: use the most with the unchanged adjective

- The most boring thing about ESL class is doing grammar exercises.
- My sister is the most careful person I know.

Note: The superlative of some shorter 2-syllable adjectives can be formed with -er. Examples: simple-simplest, clever-cleverest, narrow-narrowest. To be sure which superlative method to use, you will need to consult a good dictionary.

Adjectives with 3 or more syllables: use the most with the unchanged adjective

- Some people think that Russian is the most difficult language.
- Albert Einstein was the most intelligent person in history.
- My most enjoyable class is English.
- You are the most irritating person I have ever met!

Following are two common irregular comparative/superlative forms:

- good-better-the best
- bad-worse-the worst

The following guidelines apply to the comparative/superlative of most adverbs:

1-syllable adverbs: add -er/-est

- I can run faster than you. / I can run the fastest in my class.
- She works harder than me.† / She works the hardest of all students.

Other adverbs: use more / the most

- She ran more quickly than me.† / Of all the students she ran the most quickly.

WORD ORDER

Most English sentences (clauses) conform to the SVO word order. This means that the Subject comes before the Verb, which comes before the Object. Examples:

- I (S) bought (V) a new computer (O).
- She (S) doesn't like (V) dogs (O).
- Why did you (S) do (V) that (O)?

It is more complicated when an indirect object (I) is added to the sentence. In this case the word order depends a.) on whether the direct and indirect objects are nouns or pronouns, and b.) on whether the indirect object is preceded by the word to. Here are the basic rules:

Indirect object with to:

- Two nouns
- Two pronouns
- Pronoun object/noun indirect object

SVOII I showed the computer to my friends.

I showed it to them.

I showed it to my friends.

She gave the present to her mother.

She gave it to her.

She gave it to her mother.

Indirect object without to:

- Two nouns
- Two pronouns
- Noun object/pronoun indirect object

SVIO I showed my friends the computer.

I showed them it.

I showed them the computer

She gave her mother the present.

She gave her it.

She gave her the present.

Many English sentences also contain adverbials. The problem for the English learner is that some adverbials can be located in different places within the sentence, while other adverbials must appear in one place only. For example, it is correct to say both: I very quickly did my homework .. and I did my homework very quickly .., but only I did my homework in a hurry .. is possible. I in a hurry did my homework .. is wrong.
