- 6a Underline the correct options.
- 1 She / Her friends are Italian.
 - 2 Where's you / your wife from?
 - 3 I / My have a big family.
 - 4 Are they / their twins?
 - 5 He / His brother is a teacher.
 - 6 This is we / our house.
- b Compare your answers with a partner.

TWIN VILLAGE

Kodinhi is a small village in Kerala in south India. It's a typical village, but its people are not typical. Two thousand families live here and 290 families have twins. In India seven babies in 1,000 are twins, but in Kodinhi, forty-five babies in 1,000 are twins.

Mohammed Rāshin's family is from Kodinhi. He and his wife have seven boys. Four of their sons are twins. Mohammed says, 'My wife and I are very happy with our family. Everyone in the village is happy.'

But why are there so many twins in Kodinhi? How is it possible? No one really has an answer, but the village doctor says it isn't genetic; he thinks it's something in the water or the food.

- typical a good example of something that's usual, normal, average
- genetic things that come from your parents, like blue eyes or brown hair

- 7 Complete the sentences using the words in the box.

~~their~~ his her our its my your

- 1 a They have a house in Kodinhi.
b Kodinhi is their home.
- 2 a We have seven children – all boys.
b All _____ children are boys.
- 3 a Mohammed and Suhara are the parents.
b Mohammed is the father; Suhara is _____ wife.
- 4 a You have a big family.
b _____ family is big.
- 5 a Suhara's friend has twin girls.
b _____ friend has twin girls.
- 6 a Many people know about the twins in Kodinhi.

Kirit is my brother. He's 25. He's a nurse.
- 2 1.8))) Read and listen to the information in the Unlock the code box about positive and negative contractions.

UNLOCK THE CODE

positive and negative contractions

- When we speak, we often use contractions, e.g. I'm, she isn't, etc. It is important to understand the difference between the positive and negative forms of the verb.
- The verb to be is not stressed in positive sentences.
He's Australian. I'm Chinese.
- In negative sentences not, isn't and aren't are stressed.
She's not Polish. It isn't my family name. They aren't friends.

- 3 1.9))) Listen and underline the contraction you hear.
- I'm / I'm not* Russian.
 - It's / It isn't* an Arabic name.
 - That's / That's not* a girl's name.
 - They're / They aren't* brothers.
 - It's / It's not* the same.
 - She's / She isn't* French.
 - It's / It's not* a long name.
 - He's / He isn't* married.
- 4 1.10))) Listen and complete the sentences with the words you hear.
- It _____ a female name.
 - Their name _____ Spanish.
 - She _____ called Sarah.
 - His family name _____ Ramirez.
 - That _____ a boy's name.
 - My name _____ very long.
 - Their family _____ large.
 - He _____ my friend.

- 5a Match the names to the nationalities.

1 Li Na	a Turkish
2 Antalek Tamás	b Chinese
3 Bülent Sadik	c Hungarian
4 Manuela García Gómez	d Spanish

- b 1.11))) Listen and check your answers.

- c 1.11))) Listen again. Tick (✓) the pairs of countries that have something the same, and cross (X) the ones that are different.

1 Turkey and China	3 Spain and Hungary
2 China and Hungary	4 Turkey and Spain

- 6a TASK Work with a partner. Use the prompts to talk about your name and the names of your friends and family.

My name's ... , but my friends/family call me ...

I have two/three/four names.

In my family, no one has/some people have the same name.

My aunt/brother has a long/short/funny/interesting name.

- b Work with another partner. Tell them three things about your first partner.

Alberto has five names ...

Vocabulary & Speaking regular and irregular plural nouns

- 7a Work with a partner. Read part of a magazine article about names. What do you find out about titles and names?

What's in a title or name?

Titles and names can tell us a lot about people. For example, in English there is one title for men, Mr, and three for women – Mrs for a married woman, Miss for a single woman and Ms for both. In some countries, for example Greece, wives can have their husband's last names after they are married, but in other countries they have their own names. In Iceland, most last names have -sson or -dottir at the end, for example Gunnarsson or Guomundsdottir. A person's last name is their father's first name with -sson or -dottir. If a man is called Magnus Einarsson and his son is called Jon and his daughter is called Kristen, then Jon's and Kristin's last name is not Einarsson. Jon's last name is Magnusson and Kristin's last name is Magnúsdottir.

- b Work with a partner. What's special about names in your language or other languages you know?
- c Read the article again and complete the table. Compare your answers with a partner.

Regular (singular)	Regular (plural)	Irregular (singular)	Irregular (plural)
1 a name	names	a man	3 _____
a country	2 _____	4 _____	women
		a person	5 _____

- d 1.12))) Listen, check and repeat.

- 8 Read the information in the Vocabulary focus box about regular and irregular plural nouns.

VOCABULARY FOCUS regular and irregular plural nouns

Regular nouns

- To talk about more than one noun, we usually add -s.
name → names cousin → cousins
- With nouns that end in -ch, -sh, -ss, -s, -x, -z, we add -es.
brush → brushes box → boxes
- With nouns that end in a consonant + -y, we take away the -y and add -ies.
country → countries family → families

Irregular nouns

- Some nouns are irregular in the plural.
child → children person → people man → men woman → women
- Some nouns that end in -f or -fe, have plurals in -ves.
wife → wives half → halves knife → knives
- We don't add -s to irregular nouns.

- 9 Work with a partner. Take turns to ask and answer questions about singular and plural nouns. Student A, turn to page 126. Student B, turn to page 131.

- 10a Look at the photos for one minute.

| 3 have breakfast | 9 write emails |
| 4 go out in a boat | 10 go to bed late |
| 5 visit different islands | 11 relax |
| 6 take photos | 12 read a book |

- 3 2.1))) Listen again and complete the sentences with the correct verbs. Is Melanie talking only about today, or things she does every day?

- 1 In the summer, my days are long. I _____ early and _____ to the beach. I watch the penguins.
- 2 We _____ different islands and we _____ photos.
- 3 In the winter, we usually _____ more free time.

- 4a Work with a partner. Read the article about Melanie and her colleague, Sven. How are their jobs different?

SCIENTISTS ON BIRD ISLAND

Bird Island is an important scientific research centre. Every year lots of scientists visit the island, but Melanie Szabo, a professor of zoology, works there all year. Sven Olafsson, who is from Bergen in Norway, also works on the island. He studies seals and Melanie watches penguins. The penguins come to the beaches on the north of the island and Melanie often works there alone. Sven never works alone – he always works with the other scientists because the male seals are big and sometimes dangerous! Sven loves his job, but he works very hard and he hardly ever has free time. For Melanie, her favourite time is Saturday night. One of the scientists usually makes a big dinner for the group and they watch a movie together, relax or play games.

- b Work with a partner. Would you like to work on Bird Island? Why/Why not?
- 5 Work with a partner. Read the sentences and complete the rules in the Grammar focus box.
- 1 We visit different islands and we take photos.
 - 2 Sven loves his job, but he works very hard and he hardly ever has free time.
 - 3 Melanie watches penguins.

GRAMMAR FOCUS present simple positive

- We use the present simple to talk about repeated actions and things that are always true.
- To make the present simple positive, we use:
I/You/¹_____/They + infinitive without to ²_____/She/It + infinitive without to + (e)s
- When a verb ends in -ch, -sh, -ss, -s, -z, -x, we add ³_____ to the third person he/she/it form.
- The third person he/she/it form of have is ⁴_____.

→ Grammar Reference page 138

PRONUNCIATION third person -(e)s

- The third person -s is pronounced /s/ or /z/ with most verbs, e.g. works, goes.
- With verbs ending in -ch, -sh, -ss, -s, -z or -x, the third person he/she/it form is pronounced /ɪz/, e.g. watches, washes.

6a 2.2 Listen to three sentences and repeat.

- 1 Melanie watches penguins. /ɪz/ 3 Sven loves his job. /z/
2 Sven also works on the island. /s/b 2.3 Listen and circle the final sound you hear in verbs 1–6.

- 1 goes /z/ /ɪz/ 3 cooks /s/ /ɪz/ 5 makes /s/ /ɪz/
2 teaches /z/ /ɪz/ 4 relaxes /s/ /ɪz/ 6 plays /z/ /ɪz/

c 2.4 Listen, check and repeat.7a Read the Grammar focus box about adverbs of frequency.GRAMMAR FOCUS adverbs of frequency

- Adverbs of frequency, e.g. always, never, sometimes, etc. tell us how often or how frequently something happens.
- In the present simple, adverbs of frequency come after the verb to be, but before all other verbs.
In the winter, the weather is always very cold.
Melanie often works there alone all day.

2.2 Spending time

GOALS ■ Tell the time ■ Use the present simple negative

Listening & Vocabulary telling the time

1a Work with a partner. Do you think sentences 1–3 are true (T) or false (F)?

- 1 It takes about a year to learn to be an astronaut. T / F
- 2 Some astronauts stay in space for over a year at a time. T / F
- 3 Astronauts don't need perfect eyesight. T / F

b Turn to page 127 and check your answers.

2 2.7))) Sanaa Diya is a trainee astronaut at the European Astronaut Centre (EAC) in Cologne, Germany. Listen and answer the questions.

- 1 What does she think about the training?
- 2 What subjects does she learn?

3 2.7))) Listen again and match activities 1–6 in Sanaa's day to times a–f.

- 1 She gets up
 - 2 She has breakfast in the canteen
 - 3 She goes to morning classes
 - 4 She stops for a break in the morning
 - 5 Classes finish in the evening
 - 6 She goes to sleep
- a at quarter to eight.
b at ten to seven.
c at quarter to six.
d at five past ten.
e at quarter past eleven.
f at half past eight.

4a Work with a partner. Write the times under the clocks.

1 It's three o'clock.	2 _____	3 _____

4 _____	5 _____	6 _____

7 _____	8 _____	9 _____

10 _____	11 _____	12 _____

b 2.8))) Listen, check and repeat.

PRONUNCIATION saying the time

- When we say the time, we don't stress past or to, e.g. twenty-five past three, ten to seven.
- We don't pronounce the letter l in half, so we say /ha:f/.
- Quarter begins with a /k/ sound, so we say /kwɔ:tə/.

5a 2.9))) Listen to the times. Circle the words you hear.

- | | |
|------------------------------------|---------------------------------------|
| 1 quarter / half past eight | 4 five / quarter to six |
| 2 quarter to / past three | 5 twenty to / past three |
| 3 ten to / past ten | 6 twenty / twenty-five to four |

b 2.9))) Listen again and repeat.

6 Work with a partner. Talk about what time you do these things or what time they happen where you live.

- | | |
|--------------------------------------|--------------------------|
| • the sun rises in summer | • you have lunch |
| • you get up | • the shops close |
| • the shops open | • public transport stops |
| • your favourite TV programme starts | |

The sun rises at about half past six.

Shops like the baker's open early, at eight o'clock.

Reading & Grammar present simple negative

- 7 Work with a partner. What's different about life on earth and life in space? Use the ideas in the box.

daytime and night-time washing sleeping

- 8a Read the article about Canadian astronaut Chris Hadfield and life in space. Check your ideas in exercise 7.

A perfect day

When Chris Hadfield goes into space, he doesn't have a lot of free time. He works twelve hours a day and also does two hours' exercise. Life in space is very different to life on earth. Astronauts don't have showers like people on earth do - they wash with a cloth. They don't sleep in a bed - they sleep in special sleeping bags on the walls. It is difficult to know the time because in space the sun doesn't rise once a day - it rises once every 45 minutes. It's hard work, but most astronauts love being in space. Chris says it is amazing and he doesn't want to sleep. For him, every day in space is a perfect day!

- b Underline the negative verb forms in exercise 8a, e.g. doesn't have, and complete the rules in the Grammar focus box.

GRAMMAR FOCUS present simple negative

To make the present simple negative, we use:

I/You/We/They + do not (_____) + infinitive without to
 He/She/It + does not (_____) + infinitive without to

→ Grammar Reference page 139

- 9a Change these sentences from positive to negative. Use contractions.

- 1 They have a lot of free time.
They don't have a lot of free time.
- 2 I go to classes in the evening.
- 3 Chris has a shower in the morning.
- 4 Sanaa sleeps in a sleeping bag.
- 5 They speak to their families every day.
- 6 He works eight hours a day.

- b 2.10))) Listen, check and repeat.

- 10a Work with a partner. Do you think these things usually happen or not in space?

- A I don't think astronauts get sick on their first trip into space.
 B Really? I disagree. I think they usually get sick.

- 1 get sick on their first trip into space
- 2 wear special clothes in the space station
- 3 change their clothes every day
- 4 exercise a lot
- 5 go on a spacewalk every day
- 6 sleep a lot

- b 2.11))) Listen and check your ideas.

- 11a TASK Chris says every day in space is a perfect day for him. Describe a perfect day for you. Write down three things you do and three things you don't do.

On a perfect day, I don't go to work. I have breakfast in bed at about half past nine - fresh fruit, coffee and a croissant - and I get up at ten o'clock.

- b Compare your sentences with a partner. Is their perfect day similar or different to yours?
 c Work with a different partner. Tell them about your first partner's perfect day.

2.3 Vocabulary and skills development

GOALS ■ Understand conjunctions in reading ■ Use verb + preposition phrases

Reading & Speaking understanding conjunctions

- 1 Work in small groups. When do you think is the best time to do the things in the box? Why?

go to sleep have breakfast have dinner wake up

- 2a Read the sentences about sleep. Look at the words in bold and answer questions 1–4.

- I usually only sleep five or six hours a night, but I sleep well.
- I sleep for a long time, but I don't always feel good in the mornings.
- I am often worried about something and wake up in the night.
- I never get enough sleep because I am always busy.

- 1 Which word joins two similar ideas?
- 2 Which word do we use to show something different?
- 3 Which word answers the question Why?
- 4 Which word joins two possibilities?

- b Read the information in the Unlock the code box about conjunctions. Check your answers to exercise 2a.

UNLOCK THE CODE

understanding conjunctions

- Understanding conjunctions in sentences, e.g. and, but, because, and or, helps you understand a text.
- We use:
 - and with similar ideas
 - or with two or more choices or possibilities
 - because to say why something happens
 - but to contrast two different pieces of information.

- 3a Match beginnings 1–4 to endings a–d. Use the conjunctions to help you.

- | | |
|-------------------------------|-------------------------|
| 1 I have lunch at one or | a have breakfast. |
| 2 I wake up and | b it's difficult! |
| 3 People eat because | c they're hungry. |
| 4 I try to wake up early, but | d two in the afternoon. |

- b 2.12))) Listen, check and repeat.

- 4a Complete each sentence with a different conjunction.

- 1 Some scientists say to eat small meals often, _____ others say it is important to eat only three meals a day.
- 2 Some scientists believe it's a bad idea to drink tea _____ coffee late in the evening.
- 3 I go to bed early _____ I wake up early.
- 4 There is no perfect time to wake up _____ people are different.

- b Work with a partner. Discuss the sentences in exercise 4a.

- 5a Read the article and answer questions 1–5.

- 1 What can happen if we sleep or eat at the wrong time?
- 2 Is there a perfect time to sleep? Why/Why not?
- 3 When is the best time to sleep? Why is this often difficult to do?
- 4 When is the best time to eat?
- 5 '... if you listen to your own body clock, you can live a healthier life.' What does this mean?

- b Work in small groups. Do you agree with the ideas in the article?

Know your body clock

Many of us get enough sleep and food, but still feel tired and hungry during the day. Perhaps this is because we sleep or eat at the wrong times.

There is no perfect time to sleep because everyone's body clock is different, but sleep expert Dr Michael Howell says the best sleep is six hours at night and two hours in the afternoon. The best time to have your afternoon sleep is six hours after you wake up, but this is not possible for most people because they are at work.

It is also useful to think about what time you eat. It is important to eat breakfast two hours after you wake up and dinner three hours before you go to sleep.

Perhaps the most important thing to remember is that if you listen to your own body clock, you can live a healthier life.

Vocabulary & Speaking verb + preposition

6a Complete the two sentences with prepositions.

- 1 It is also useful to think _____ what time you eat.
- 2 ... if you listen _____ your own body clock, you can live a healthier life.

b Check your answers in the article in exercise 5a.

c Read the information in the Vocabulary focus box about verbs and prepositions.

VOCABULARY FOCUS verb + preposition

- Some verbs have a preposition, e.g. with, for, about, to, after them. These verbs need an object after the preposition.
I listen to music every day.
He never agrees with her.
Are you looking for your keys?
- We don't use a preposition when there is no object.
Wait! NOT Wait for!
Listen! NOT Listen to!

7a Work with a partner. Match beginnings 1–8 to answers a–h to make eight short conversations.

- 1 I watch the news on TV every morning.
 - 2 It's a good idea.
 - 3 Do you pay for tea and coffee at work?

- b Work with a partner. What other places in a town do you know?

COOBER PEDY THE UNDERGROUND TOWN

a room in a house in Coober Pedy

opal earrings

Coober Pedy is a very small town in Australia. It's very hot and it hardly ever rains. There's no water and there aren't many trees, but near Coober Pedy, there are opals under the ground – lots of them! Coober Pedy is the opal capital of the world.

A lot of the people in Coober Pedy work in the opal mines*. The mines are underground and the houses are underground too because it's cool down there. The houses are very comfortable but they don't have windows or gardens. There are underground shops and restaurants, and there's also an underground swimming pool. A lot of tourists come to Coober Pedy to visit the underground buildings – some of these buildings are more than 100 years old. There are four or five hotels and there's also a campsite where visitors can stay. There's a museum about the history of the town and a big tourist information centre. The roads to Coober Pedy are good and there's an airport, but there isn't a railway station.

- mines very big holes in the ground where people work to get things like coal, gold or diamonds

PRONUNCIATION word stress

4.2 Where I live

GOALS ■ Talk about rooms and furniture ■ Use prepositions of place ■ Use articles

Vocabulary & Speaking

rooms, furniture and prepositions of place

1a Complete the information about yourself.

I live in a ... (house/flat).

I live with ...

In my house/flat, there is/are ... (a kitchen, a living room, a bathroom, a dining room, three bedrooms, a toilet, an office).

b Work with a partner. Tell them about where you live.

2 Match the prepositions in the box to the illustrations 1-8.

next to on opposite under

3 4.4 Listen to Claire talking about her flat and answer the questions.

- 1 Where is the flat?
- 2 How many rooms are there?

4a Look at the illustrations and read Claire's description of her flat. Complete each gap with a different preposition from exercise 2.

The flat's ¹ _____ the 4th floor of a building ² _____ Delancey Street and Grand Street. The building is ³ _____ a 24-hour garage and ⁴ _____ an Indian restaurant, so there are always lots of cars and people in the street. The cars are quite noisy.

It's a studio flat with only one room. My bed is on a shelf ⁵ _____ the kitchen. The toilet and shower are ⁶ _____ the shelf. In the kitchen there's a sink, a fridge, and a cooker, but there isn't a dishwasher or a washing machine – I go to the launderette on Grand Street to wash clothes. ⁷ _____ the window, there's a red carpet on the floor and there's an armchair and table with a television on it. From the window, I can see the East River. It's ⁸ _____ the building.

b 4.5 Listen and check your answers.

5 Look at Claire's description again and find words to match these definitions.

- 1 It's above the kitchen. Claire sleeps in it.
- 2 Claire sits on it to watch TV.
- 3 Claire washes things in the kitchen in it.
- 4 It's in the kitchen. It has food in it.
- 5 Claire goes to the launderette because she doesn't have this.
- 6 It's in the kitchen. Claire cooks food on it.
- 7 It's on the floor in front of the window.
- 8 It's under the shelf. Claire washes there.

6 Work with a partner. Ask questions and describe your studio flat to your partner to find seven differences. Student A, turn to page 127. Student B, turn to page 132.

4.3 Vocabulary and skills development

GOALS ■ Understand pronoun referencing ■ Use opposite adjectives

Reading & Speaking pronoun referencing

- 1 Work in small groups. Look at the photos and answer the questions.
 - 1 How many things in the photos can you name?
 - 2 Which desk do you prefer? Why?
- 2 Read the information in the Unlock the code box about pronoun referencing.

UNLOCK THE CODE pronoun referencing

The first time we talk about a thing or person we usually use the noun. After that we often refer to it using a pronoun because we don't want to repeat the same noun.

Where's my pen? I can't find it.

it = pen

My grandparents are French. They live in Paris.

They = my grandparents

- 3 Circle the word in each sentence that the highlighted word refers to.
 - 1 My bedroom is very big, but I share it with my sister.
 - 2 His things are all on the floor. He never tidies them.
 - 3 We've got two big armchairs in the living room – they're really comfortable.
 - 4 That's a beautiful picture. Where did you get it?
 - 5 Our house is quite small, but I really like it.
 - 6 A Are those your keys?
B No, they're yours.

- 4 Read the website forum. Write the thing or person that the highlighted word refers to.

- 1 they (line 3) = _____
- 2 it (line 4) = _____
- 3 they (line 4) = _____
- 4 They (line 14) = _____
- 5 them (line 16) = _____

Are you a tidy worker or a messy worker?
What's on your desk? Write and tell us.

Yesterday 15:23

Officegirl94: I'm a very messy person. My colleagues think my desk's really terrible; they can't believe all the things that are on it! Are you ready? Here they are: batteries, scissors, five or six magazines, 5 about ten pens and pencils, a clock, a bottle of water, an apple, a cup, books, envelopes and a cheese sandwich! Oh, and my computer.

Today 11:35

Netguy: Wow Officegirl94! A cheese 10 sandwich on your desk? Ugh! For me, a messy place is difficult to work in. I need a big desk to work on. The only things on my desk are a computer and a printer. They're both new and expensive, so I like to keep 15 them very clean.

- 5 Read another reply from the website. Use the highlighted words to help you answer questions 1–7.
- Which two rooms are never clean?
 - Who never does any cleaning?
 - Who doesn't want to come and see Mala?
 - What's not expensive?
 - Who's good fun?
 - What's on Mala's desk?
 - What does Mala keep in the cupboard with her computer?

Today 11:35

 Homeworker 77: I'm Mala. I live in a shared house with four other students and it's always messy. I share a kitchen and bathroom. They're never clean because my housemates are very lazy. They never do any cleaning. My friends think the house is awful and they don't want to visit me. But it's a cheap place to live and I like my housemates – they're fun! My bedroom is different to the rest of the house. I work from home, so I keep everything tidy and organised in there. My desk's perfect – there's nothing on it! I only have one or two books on my desk when I'm working, but I put them in the cupboard with my laptop when I finish my work. I hate mess! Hmm, maybe I do need to move house!

- 6 Work with a partner. Describe your office or flat/house. Don't repeat any nouns – use pronouns instead.
- My kitchen's always messy. I only wash dishes when I need to use them.*

Vocabulary & Speaking opposite adjectives

- 7 Work with a partner. Underline the adjectives in the two forum posts in exercise 4.

I'm a very messy person.

- 8a Read the information in the Vocabulary focus box about opposite adjectives.

VOCABULARY FOCUS opposite adjectives

Many adjectives have opposites. Dictionaries often give you information about them. Learning words with their opposites increases your vocabulary, e.g.

messy/tidy cheap/expensive terrible/fantastic

- b Match adjectives 1–10 to their opposites a–j.

1 difficult	a short
2 big	b old

- 2 What time does the tour bus leave?
- 3 What does she need to take with her?

Subject: Caves and temples tour

Hello everyone,

Welcome to Bali! Here are the instructions for tomorrow's tour. The tour bus leaves from in front of the Ubud Village Hotel in the city centre at 10 a.m. Please arrive by 9.30 a.m. Bring the booking form and your passport with you.

Wear comfortable shoes for the walk and take a hat or scarf to wear on your head when we go inside the temples. Please don't take photographs inside the temple. Finally, don't forget to bring some money to tip the bus driver.

See you all tomorrow!

Best wishes,

Kusuma

9 Look at all underlined verbs in the email and read the information in the Language for writing box.

LANGUAGE FOR WRITING imperatives

- We use the imperative to tell people what to do, and to give orders, instructions and directions.
- The imperative uses the infinitive without to, e.g. Take a hat.
- We make the negative with don't/do not + infinitive without to, e.g. Don't forget your passport.

10 Work with a partner. Complete the instructions for tourists in Bali with the correct form of the verbs in the box.

Successful people who failed at first

A Vera Wang was born in New York in 1949 and her parents were from China. When she was younger she was a very good ice skater and she wanted to skate in the Olympics. However, she was very unhappy when she wasn't in the US Olympic team in 1968 and she decided to become a fashion designer. She worked fifteen years for Vogue magazine, then another two years with Ralph Lauren. Today, she is a very successful designer. She has her own fashion label Vera Wang and sells dresses for $25,000!

B Akio Morita was born in 1921 and he was a businessman from the age of 25. He was the founder of Sony with his business partner and friend Masaru Ibuku. At first they weren't very successful. Their first product was an electric rice cooker and they only sold 100 of them because it always burnt the rice! Today, Sony is in the top 100 companies in the world.

6.3 Vocabulary and skills development

GOALS ■ Understand present and past simple verbs ■ Use adverbs of degree Listening & Speaking understanding present and past simple verbs

- 1 Circle the best option for you. Discuss the statements in small groups.
 - 1 Art galleries are interesting / boring.
 - 2 I often / never / hardly ever visit museums.
- 2 6.11 Listen to two sentences about an art gallery. Which is present and which is past? How do you know?
- 3 6.12 Read and listen to the information in the Unlock the code box about present and past simple verbs.

UNLOCK THE CODE present and past simple verbs

Regular past simple verbs can sound very similar to their present simple forms.

I walk every day. → I walked every day.

They love it. → They loved it.

We want it. → We wanted it.

- 1 Regular past simple verbs end with three different sounds:
/t/: walked /d/: loved /ɪd/: wanted
- 2 Time expressions can help you decide if the verb is past or present.
I moved house in 2012. (past)
I walk a lot these days. (present)

- 4a 6.13 Listen and tick (✓) the word you hear in each pair 1–9. Compare your answers with a partner.

Vocabulary & Listening adverbs of degree

- 9a Look at four sentences from the programme about Inhotim and read the Vocabulary focus box about adverbs of degree.

... Bernardo Paz decided to use the space for something very different.

... but as you get closer, you notice something a bit unusual.

Although it is quite far from the usual tourist spots of Brazil, ...

... it is really important for the local area ...

VOCABULARY FOCUS adverbs of degree

When we use adjectives to describe things, we often want to show how strongly we feel. To do this, we can use adverbs, e.g. a bit, quite, very, really, before the adjectives.

I'm a bit cold.

The exam was quite easy.

He is really nice.

Russia is a very big country.

Note: We don't use a bit with positive adjectives.

~~I'm a bit happy.~~

- b Write the words in bold in exercise 9a on the line.

0% 1 a bit 2 _____ 3 _____ / 4 _____ 100%

- 10a 6.16))) Listen to two people talking about their visits to Inhotim. Is speaker 1 or speaker 2 more positive about the different parts of their visit?

- 1 Where can you put the words does and I in the tweet to make full sentences?
- 2 Why do you think the two words are not included in the tweet?

LANGUAGE FOR WRITING tweets and texts

We often leave words out when we write quickly and informally, e.g. in text messages or on Twitter.

These words can be:

- 1 auxiliary verbs, e.g. do, does, is, are.
~~Does~~ anyone know where I can dance salsa?
- 2 subject pronouns, e.g. I, you, it.
~~I~~ really want to learn!
- 3 subject and the verb to be.
~~It was~~ so funny!

- 10 Find examples of missing words in the replies in exercise 8b.

- 4a Work with a partner. Look at the photo and title of the article. What do you think the mayor did?

the healthy mayor

In 2002 New York City chose a new mayor, Michael Bloomberg. Bloomberg wanted the people of New York to be healthy. In his opinion, they did the wrong things: they ate the wrong food, they smoked, they drove everywhere, and they did little or no exercise.

So Bloomberg tried to change their habits. Before he was mayor, restaurant menus only gave the price of the food. But after 2007 restaurants wrote the number of calories in their food on the menu. He banned smoking in public places. He also tried to reduce the size of sweet drinks, like Coca Cola (but the Supreme Court stopped him).

Bloomberg had other messages for New Yorkers, too: do more exercise, leave your car at home, walk or ride a bicycle, and take the stairs when you can. He told them he always took the stairs, not the lift.

Some people thought Bloomberg was wrong. People's health is their business. But is it?

■ banned said something was not allowed ■ reduce make something smaller

5 • THE REVIEW • TV

Technology to make you healthier

The programme was about apps and gadgets that check our health and daily exercise. In the programme, three female office workers used this new technology for three weeks. What did they do and did it work?

Firstly, university scientist Blaine Price lent the women a gadget to count their steps, and a specially-programmed smartphone to check their sleep.

After that, the women went back to their normal lives and used the gadget to check their exercise. At the end of each day, the scientist sent them an email with the number of their steps. At the beginning they only took 5,000 steps, but the target was 10,000 a day.

Next, they checked their sleep. Every night, they put the smartphone on their bed when they went to sleep. The next morning, they looked at the phone and saw the number of hours they slept, and how deeply.

Finally, the three women and Blaine met again to talk about their progress. All the women said they were healthier and fitter, and one said she ran when she watched TV. They all lost weight, and they all understood better why and when they slept well.

So the programme showed that new gadgets and technology can help us change our routine and get healthier!

Reading & Writing post a website comment

- 8a Read the online article about a video game experiment. Describe the experiment to your partner.

TECHNOLOGY

New research shows that video gamers don't live in the real world.

Researchers gave two groups of people a simple test. The first group played a lot of video games before the experiment. The people in the second group didn't play video games. Then, both groups took paper clips out of a bucket of ice-cold water. The first group took more paper clips. They didn't feel the cold because their brain thought that they were still in the video game world. The other group felt the cold because they weren't in a virtual world.

- b Work with a partner. Answer the questions.
- 1 What does the writer say that the experiment shows?
 - 2 Do you agree? Why/Why not?
- 9 Work with a partner. Read four comments from the website. Who agrees with the research? Who disagrees?

I agree, but I knew this before this research. People don't talk to each other anymore. They work with computers and they also relax with computers.

Firos, Lebanon
That's right. I think we live in another world. We look at computer screens for eight hours a day at work, then watch TV for four hours in the evening, too. We are also always on our phones.

Haruki, Japan
I'm afraid I don't really agree with this research. What's the problem? People relax in different ways. Some people read books. Others play video games.

That's true, Haruki. For me, video games are a hobby. I think people know the difference between a game and the real world.

Getting around in Hanoi

Hanoi is a busy city of over six million people – what's the best way to get around?

CYCLO

Cyclos are a fun way to get around and they're good for the environment. You should have a map of the city, so you can show the driver where you want to go. Also, you shouldn't start your journey before you agree the price with the driver.

XE OM

A xe om is a motorbike taxi. The word xe means motorbike and om means hold. You should hold the driver, so you don't fall off! Your xe om driver has to give you a helmet and you have to wear it. It's against the law to travel without one.

TAXI

Air-conditioned taxis are a comfortable way to travel because it's usually so hot outside. But you shouldn't take a taxi when you need to get somewhere quickly. There's a lot of traffic in Hanoi and taxis don't go fast!

ON FOOT

You don't have to pay to see Hanoi – walking is free! We think it's the best way to see the street life of the city.

 - 2 Who does the most cooking in your home?
- 2a Work with a partner. Look at the title of the magazine article. Why do you think cooking more often is good for our health?
- b Read the article and check your ideas.

The secret to good health: cook more!

How much time do people spend cooking today compared to the past? The answer is: not much time at all. For example, the average American family today spends just 27 minutes a day preparing meals. In the 1960s, it was nearly an hour a day. And how many young people know how to cook? Well, there aren't many, according to a survey in the UK. 49% of 18–24 year olds don't know how many minutes it takes to boil an egg! But is this change in cooking habits a problem?

Jean-Michel Cohen, a French doctor, thinks we have quite a lot of health problems today because not many people cook enough. He says that when we buy ready-made meals or takeaway food, we don't really think about what we're eating. This means we often eat a lot of food – more than we need. But when we buy the ingredients, e.g. vegetables, meat, fish, and then fry, bake or boil them, we think more carefully about what we are eating. And when we think about the ingredients, we usually eat healthy meals and we eat well.

So, perhaps the answer to some of the health problems is not 'eat less' – it's 'cook more'!

2a Read the email from Stefano to his friend Vera. Why is he writing to her?

Sent: THURSDAY 14.19

Hi Vera,

How are you? Everything's good with me. I'm going to Edinburgh this weekend with Molly for her 25th birthday. I know you finished university there last year and I hope you can help me with something. We're looking for a restaurant to have dinner on Saturday night. What's your favourite restaurant? Do you know anywhere that's quite cheap and has good food? Also, where's a good place to sit outside and eat? And with a nice view of the castle? Are the restaurants in Edinburgh busy on Saturdays? Do I need to book a table?

Thanks for your help!

3 Work with a partner. Read Vera's reply and underline her answers to Stefano's questions. Does she tell him to go to her favourite restaurant?

Sent: THURSDAY 19.30

Hi Stefano,

Great to hear from you and I'm glad you're well. My favourite place is the Castle Terrace because the food is amazing, but it's quite expensive. There's also a place called Kayla's Kitchen with good, cheap food. You can't eat outside there – it's not often very warm in Scotland – but it has wonderful views of the city from the rooftop restaurant. The waiters are really friendly too, so I think you should go there.

OK, have a brilliant time and let me know how your trip goes!

Vera

P.S. You should book a table on the Saturday night because it's very popular.

- 6 Work with a partner. Describe the photos.

- 7 Work with a partner. Read the profile and match the country to options a, b or c. What information helped you decide?

a Saudi Arabia b Austria c Mali

COUNTRY PROFILE

Most of the country has a hot climate. It's colder and wetter by the sea than in the middle of the country, where it's hotter and drier. In the summer, the temperature's usually about 45°C and sometimes it even reaches 54°C. The temperatures at night are more comfortable than in the day, and on summer evenings, people go out onto their roofs to sleep.

The country's more famous for its hot temperatures than cold weather, so you might be surprised to know that sometimes it snows here. It doesn't happen very often and only during winter in the high parts of the country. Some people like snowboarding so much that they do it on the sand, even in the summer!

- 8a Look at the highlighted phrases and sentences in the profile and complete the rules in the Grammar focus box.

GRAMMAR FOCUS comparative adjectives

- We use comparative adjectives to compare two things, people, groups, etc.
- To make the comparative form of an adjective:
 - We add _____ to most one-syllable adjectives.
high → higher cool → cooler
 - We double the consonant and add _____ to most one-syllable adjectives ending in single vowel + consonant.
wet → wetter hot → hotter
 - We delete _____ and add _____ to most one-syllable and two-syllable adjectives ending in y.
windy → windier dry → drier
 - We use the word _____ before most adjectives with two or more syllables that don't end in -y.
famous → more famous comfortable → more comfortable
 - Some comparatives are irregular.
good → better bad → worse much, many → more little → less

- b 10.9))) Listen and check your answers.

- 7a Read the Grammar focus box about superlative adjectives.

GRAMMAR FOCUS superlative adjectives

- We use the superlative form to compare a person or thing to the whole group it belongs to. We usually use the before superlatives.
Everest is the tallest mountain in the world.
- To make the superlative form of an adjective, we add:
 - est to the end of a one-syllable adjective, e.g. tall → tallest
 - iest to the end of a two-syllable adjective which ends in -y, e.g. cloudy → cloudiest
 - most before longer adjectives, e.g. most dangerous.
 - Some superlatives are irregular good → best much, many → most bad → worst little → least

→ Grammar Reference page 155

- b Complete the table with the superlative form of the adjectives. Check your answers in the texts in exercise 6a.

- 2 The Sahara is bigger than all other deserts.
- 3 50 degrees is the highest temperature in the Sahara.
- 4 Mauro was at the front of the race before the storm.
- 5 After the storm, Mauro was in last place.
- 6 He decided not to run the Marathon des Sables again.

Man v Desert

People do some crazy things! Mauro Prosperi believes the three biggest races in the world are the Marathon des Sables in Africa, the race across the South Pole, and the marathon through the jungle in Brazil, but he believes the Marathon des Sables is the most difficult. It's a six- or seven-day race that goes through the Sahara Desert in Morocco, and it's about 240 km long. Deserts are dangerous places and the Sahara is the second largest in the world. High temperatures are usual: 50 degrees and sometimes hotter, and the runners have to carry their food and equipment. Mauro, a police officer from Rome, started the race, but he didn't complete it. There was a very bad storm and strong winds blew sand into the air, so he couldn't see. Before the storm, Mauro was one of the fastest runners, but after it, he couldn't find the other runners. The others were all in front of him. Nine days later, a local Tuareg family found him in Algeria – he was almost dead. But Mauro wasn't finished with the desert. He returned to the Sahara a few years later and he finished the Marathon des Sables.

- 5 Work with a partner. Answer the questions.
- 1 Do you think Mauro was 'crazy' to run in this race?
 - 2 What's the most difficult sporting event you know?
 - 3 Why do people do events like these?

Do Something for Mandela Day

Nelson Mandela worked all his life to change and improve South Africa. Now it's YOUR turn in YOUR community! Every year on 18th July, people around the world celebrate Mandela's life by doing something to help their local area. Here are some ideas:

- Look after a neighbour's pet.
- Teach someone a language.
- Paint the classrooms and repair some broken furniture at your local school.
- Visit an elderly neighbour and help them with difficult jobs.
- Make sandwiches for homeless people.
- Plant a tree.
- Improve your workplace by keeping the kitchen clean.
- Organize a sports event and sell tickets. Give the money to charity.

What are you going to do for Mandela Day? We'd love to hear your plans, so please email us or visit our website:

www.mandeladay.com

11.2 Challenges

GOALS ■ Talk about technology ■ Say why you do things ■ Use the infinitive of purpose

Vocabulary & Speaking technology

- 1 Work in small groups. What is geocaching? Use the illustrations to help you guess.
- 2a Work with a partner. Read instructions 1–5 for geocaching and match them to illustrations a–e.
- b Work in small groups and answer the questions.
 - 1 Were your ideas about geocaching in exercise 1 correct?
 - 2 Would you like to try geocaching? Why/Why not?
- 3a Use the highlighted words in the advert in exercise 2a in singular or plural noun form to complete sentences 1–5.
 - 1 I have a _____, so I can use the internet when I'm out.
 - 2 I often buy _____ for my phone.
 - 3 I take my _____ everywhere, so I can work or study when I'm not at home.
 - 4 I check the news every day on my favourite newspaper _____.
 - 5 I have _____ on my phone because I drive to lots of different places for work.
- b 11.6))) Listen and check your answers.
- c Work with a partner. Tell each other which sentences in exercise 3a are true for you. Ask for more information.

A I often buy apps for my phone.

B Really? What kind of apps do you buy?
- 4a 11.7))) Listen to someone reading website and email addresses a–d. Match symbols 1–5 to the words in the box.

at	dash	dot	forward slash	underscore
1 @	2 /	3 .	4 _	5 -

- b Compare your answers with a partner.

- c Work with a partner. Practise reading and listening to some more website and email addresses. Student A, turn to page 131. Student B, turn to page 135.

GEOCACHING:

A REAL-WORLD TREASURE HUNT FOR THE 21ST CENTURY!

It's not difficult. You just need a smartphone or a tablet. Then you download an app and you're ready to go! Here's how it works.

- 1 One player fills a box with presents and hides it – in the city, in the countryside, anywhere!
- 2 He/She puts the coordinates of the box (or 'cache') on a geocaching website.
- 3 Other players use the coordinates and their GPS to try to find the cache. Many people do this as a team.
- 4 They find the cache, take a present from the box and put a new one in the box instead.
- 5 Then they post their photos and stories on the website.

Visit a geocaching website, like www.geocaching.com or www.opencaching.com and join in the fun!

Grammar & Speaking infinitive of purpose

5a Work with a partner. Why do you think people go geocaching?

b 11.8))) Listen to four people talking about why they go geocaching. Match speakers 1–4 to reasons a–d.

- a They want to go to new places.
- b They want to do some exercise.
- c It's good fun.
- d They want to make new friends.

c Are the answers similar to your ideas in exercise 5a?

6a 11.9))) Listen to the people in exercise 5b again and complete the sentences.

- 1 I go geocaching _____ fit.
- 2 I do it _____ new people.
- 3 I go geocaching _____ different places.

b 11.9))) Listen, check and repeat.

7 Look at sentences 1–3 in exercise 6a and complete the information in the Grammar focus box.

GRAMMAR FOCUS infinitive of purpose

- We use 1 _____ + infinitive to say why we do something.
I do it to meet new people.
- We use the short form to answer a 'why' question.
A Why do you go to the gym?
B 2 _____ keep fit.
- We can use the infinitive of purpose with all tenses.
I'm going to call Suzi to talk about the party.
I walked home to save money.

→ Grammar Reference page 157

8a Look at the photo and read about an unusual geocache. Do you think many people visit it? Why/Why not?

EASTER ISLAND CACHE

This geocache is in Rapa Nui (or Easter Island in English). It's a beautiful place, but it's not easy to get there. You can take a 5.5-hour flight from Chile. Or you could go by boat from New Zealand – it only takes 35 days!

b A geocacher is going to take the things in the box to Easter Island. Use phrases 1–6 and the infinitive of purpose to give a reason for taking each thing.

camera GPS pen plastic bags presents torch

- 1 see in the dark
I'm going to take a torch to see in the dark.
- 2 write some postcards to my family and friends
- 3 leave in the cache for other people
- 4 take some pictures of the statues
- 5 take my rubbish back to my hotel
- 6 help me find the cache

9 Rewrite sentences 1–7 using the infinitive of purpose, but don't change the meaning.

- 1 People go to the gym because they want to keep fit.
People go to the gym to keep fit.
- 2 People shop online because they want to find the cheapest price.
- 3 People take taxis because it saves time.
- 4 In the future, more people are going to cycle to work because they want to do more exercise.
- 5 People grew vegetables at home in the past because they needed to feed their families.
- 6 People are going to learn more foreign languages in the future because it helps them find a job more easily.
- 7 In the past, people moved to the city because they wanted to find a job.

10a Use the verbs in the box or your own ideas to write six sentences about you. Write two in the past tense, two in the present tense and two with going to.

buy visit go bring move start call talk to join

I bought a new bag yesterday.

b Think of a reason for each action, but don't write it down.

I bought a new bag yesterday to carry my laptop to work.

c Work in small groups. Take turns to ask questions about each other's sentences in exercise 10a. Start your answers with to ...

- A Why did you buy a bag yesterday?
- B To carry my laptop to work.

11.3 Vocabulary and skills development

GOALS ■ Deal with unknown words ■ Make adjectives stronger

Reading & Speaking unknown words

- 1 Work with a partner. Answer the questions.
 - 1 What do you do when you read a word you don't know in your first language?
 - 2 What do you do when you read a word you don't know in English?

- 2a What do you think the highlighted word in this sentence means? What helped you guess? Compare your answers with a partner.
It's common to have rice for breakfast in Japan.
- b Turn to page 131 and check your answer.
- c Read the information in the Unlock the code box about unknown words. Did you use any of the ideas to help you do exercise 2a?

UNLOCK THE CODE unknown words

When you read in English, you sometimes see words you don't know. Use these ideas to help you understand the words:

- 1 Identify the part of speech:
 - Is it a noun (a person or a thing)? e.g. a team
 - Is it a verb (an action word)? e.g. to work
 - Is it an adjective (describes a noun)? e.g. a good team
 - Is it an adverb (describes a verb)? e.g. work slowly
- 2 Use the context – the words and sentences before and after the word:

I'm so happy to hear your marvellous news.
 People say they're happy about good things, so marvellous is a positive word. It means very good.

- 3a Work with a partner. The words in bold are not real. Identify the part of speech for each word. What helped you decide?

- 1 I live in a flissy part of the city.
- 2 The college needs a new flisser.
- 3 Can you fliss him tomorrow?
- 4 We flissed the car yesterday.
- 5 My brother drives flissly.
- 6 I don't like unflissy people.

- b Replace the words in bold in exercise 3a with real words. Compare your answers with a partner.

I live in a busy part of the city.

- 4a Work with a partner. The words in bold are real. What are the parts of speech for each word and what do they mean? Use the context to help you.

- 1 Our new teacher is really strict – she isn't happy when students don't do their homework.
- 2 I think rich people and companies should pay more tax to the government.
- 3 My neighbour's dog barks very loudly.
- 4 My sister is always really scared when she sees a spider.
- 5 My phone at work rings constantly – it never stops!
- 6 You need to plant these flowers in good soil.
- 7 It's better to visit your dentist every six months than to go annually.
- 8 They live in a massive house with ten bedrooms.

- b Compare your ideas in small groups. What helped you guess?

- 5a Work with a partner. Look at the photo and read the title of the magazine article. What is good about working alone or in a team?

Behind every winner, there is a team

In the past, it was common for a really brilliant scientist like Isaac Newton to work alone, but these days scientists usually work in teams. That's why some science magazines say the Nobel Prize for Physics should change. The writers believe it's wrong to award the prize to one person because there's usually a team that is working with the individual. But because only a maximum of three people can win the Nobel Prize at one time, some really crucial members of the team are often not included and don't win anything.

It's not only in science that just one person wins an award for the work of a team. In sport, for example, there is usually a team of people helping the player of individual sports. For example, the really great tennis players and Formula One drivers have a team of people working with them: from the coach or manager who helps them with their game or race to the dietician who tells them what to eat and drink.

So perhaps it's time to stop focusing only on the individual. We should remember that there is often a huge team of many more people working hard to make everything possible.

- b Read the article and answer the questions with a partner.
- What does the science magazine think is the problem with the Nobel Prize for Physics?
 - Why does the article mention sport?
 - What does the article think we should do about the problem?
- 6 Work with a partner. Guess the meaning of the highlighted words in the article. What helped you decide?
- 7 Work in small groups. Answer the questions.
- Do you think people should focus more on the teams behind individuals? Why/Why not?
 - What other examples of individuals with a team can you think of?

Vocabulary & Speaking making adjectives stronger

- 8a Work with a partner. Complete the definition of the word from the text.

huge (adjective) _____

a very small b not very important c very big

- b Find these three strong adjectives in the article. What word comes before them in the article?

brilliant crucial great

- c Read the information in the Vocabulary focus box and check your answers.

VOCABULARY FOCUS making adjectives stronger

- You can make many ordinary adjectives stronger by using very or really, or a strong adjective instead, e.g. huge.
Brazil is a very/really big country. Brazil is a huge country.
- You can make strong adjectives stronger by using really, but not very.
Their house is really huge. Not ~~Their house is very huge.~~
It helps your vocabulary to remember ordinary and strong adjectives together, e.g. big/huge.

- 9a Work with a partner. Complete conversations 1–5 with strong adjectives from the box.

awful excellent delighted tiny lovely

- A Were you very glad to get the job?
B Of course! I was really _____!

LANGUAGE FOR WRITING addressing your reader

- When you write something, it is important to know your reader and to write in a suitable way. Ask these questions: Who is the reader? What information does the reader need?
 - Use formal language in notices with people you don't know very well, and informal language with people you know.
 - To sound informal ...
 - 1 use ellipsis, e.g. ~~Are you~~ Tired of studying alone?
 - 2 use exclamation marks, e.g. Working together is more fun!
 - To sound more formal ...
 - 1 write full sentences.
 - 2 don't use contractions, e.g. we are and not we're.
 - 3 use more formal expressions, e.g. Would you like ...?
- NOT ~~Do you want ...?~~

- 4a Read lines 1–8 from two notices. Decide which are formal (F) and which are informal (I).

- Thousands of people have watched her.
 - He has drawn many fantastic pieces of art.
 - He hasn't opened a gallery in New York.
 - She's danced in more than 75 countries.

GRAMMAR FOCUS present perfect simple

- We use the present perfect simple to talk about past experiences and events when:
 - we don't know when the event happened.
 - we are interested in what happened more than when it happened.
- We make the present perfect simple with:

(+) I/You/We/They + ¹ _____ / 've + past participle
He/She/It + ² _____ / 's + past participle

(–) I/You/We/They + haven't + past participle
He/She/It + ³ _____ + past participle

→ Grammar Reference page 158

- b Underline other examples of the present perfect simple in the articles. Compare your answers with a partner.

Stephen Wiltshire is autistic and couldn't speak until he was five. His first words were 'paper' and 'pencil' – the same first words as Picasso's! At school, he started drawing pictures of London and his teachers gave him the name 'the human camera'. He has drawn many fantastic pieces of art and he's sold them all over the world. One of his drawings is a 5.7-metre-long picture of New York. He drew it after he spent just 20 minutes in a helicopter in the sky above the city. He has his own art gallery in London. He hasn't opened a gallery in New York, but he wants to – he's just looking for the right place to do it.

- autistic having a mental condition that makes it difficult for somebody to communicate or form relationships with other people

Tai Lihua couldn't hear from the age of two after an illness. She is deaf, but this hasn't stopped her dream of dancing. When she was a child, the teacher at her school for deaf children asked the class to 'feel' the sound of a drum through their feet. From that moment, she wanted to be a dancer. Tai joined a dance company when she was 15 and she's become one of the most famous dancers in China. She's danced in more than 75 countries and thousands of people have watched her, including at the Beijing Paralympics.

- deaf not able to hear

- 4a Work with a partner. Complete the article about another artist with the present perfect form of the verbs in (brackets).

Nobuyuki Tsujii was born blind, but he started playing on a toy piano at the age of just two. He began learning the piano two years later, and he gave his first big concert in Tokyo when he was 12 years old. He's in his twenties now, but he ¹ _____ (give) concerts all over the world, and he ² _____ (win) many prizes and international competitions. He ³ _____ (write) music for film and TV, too.

He ⁴ _____ (not see) the written music, but he ⁵ _____ (learn) to play some of the most difficult pieces of music in the world only through sound. His classical music fans ⁶ _____ (say) this is amazing.

We're fluent in Chinese.	Our father is from Shanghai.
They're my half sisters.	Their names are Kana and Keiko.

Personal pronoun	I	you	he	she	it	we	they
Possessive determiner	my	your	his	her	its	our	their

We use a possessive determiner to say that something or someone belongs to a person, a place or a thing. The possessive determiner always comes before a noun or a noun phrase.

We use ...

- his to say that something or someone belongs to a man/boy
John loves his daughter.
NOT ~~John loves her daughter.~~
- her to say that something or someone belongs to a woman/girl
Amari and her husband are here.
NOT ~~Amari and his husband are here.~~
- its to say that something or someone belongs to a thing
The city is famous for its universities.
NOT ~~The city is famous for their universities.~~
- Possessive determiners have one form for singular and plural, e.g. our friend/our friends NOT ~~ours friends.~~

it's ≠ its

It's (= It is) a big city.

Its (possessive) buildings are beautiful.

Possessive 's

GR1.2b)))

- 1 Sam is my father's boss.
- 2 They are my children's cars.
- 3 Bob and Paula are my parents' friends.
- 4 Petra and Bill's new house is big.

We use the possessive 's to say that something or someone belongs to a person, a place or a thing. The possessive 's always comes after a noun.

- With regular plural nouns we use ' not 's, e.g. They're my parents' friends. NOT ~~They're my parent's friends.~~
- If there is more than one subject, we put the 's on the last name, e.g. Sara and Ricardo's daughter. NOT ~~Sara's and Ricardo's daughter.~~

John's in the office. (= is)

John's office is big. (= the office that belongs to John)

- 1 Complete the sentences with a possessive determiner.

9.1 Countable and uncountable nouns

There are two types of nouns in English: countable and uncountable nouns.

- Countable nouns are things you can count, so they can be singular or plural. We use a or an with them.
a lemon → two lemons an olive → lots of olives
- Uncountable nouns are things you usually can't count. We don't use a or an with them and they are never plural.
rice NOT ~~a rice~~ lots of bread NOT ~~lots of breads~~

Some nouns can be countable or uncountable, but the meaning is different.

We don't have time. (Time we measure using a clock.)

We went there four times last week. (We can count each visit.)

some/any

GR9.1 »

		Countable	Uncountable
(+)	I'd like	a pear. some pears.	some jam.
(-)	I don't want	an olive. any olives.	any bread.
(?)	Do you have	a lemon? any lemons?	any honey?

- We use a/an with singular countable nouns, e.g. a lemon.
- We use some with plural countable nouns or uncountable nouns in positive sentences, e.g. some pears, some jam.
- We use any with plural countable nouns or uncountable nouns in negative sentences and questions, e.g. any olives, any bread.
- We also use some in questions to ask for things or to offer something.

	Countable	Uncountable
Would you like	some noodles?	some coffee?
Can I have	some eggs?	some cake?

Drinks are usually uncountable. We say I'd like some tea. But we often say a tea as a quick way of saying a cup of tea. Also, two coffees (= two cups of coffee), three orange juices (= three glasses of orange juice), etc.

- Cross out the word that is NOT possible.
 - I'd like some chicken / a pear / ~~any meat~~.
 - I don't have a banana / a lemon / a milk.
 - Is there any coffee / olives / honey?
 - Are there any pasta / pears / eggs?
 - Can I have some knives / spoon / forks?
 - Would you like some salad / breads / mushrooms?

9.2 Quantifiers – much/many/a lot of GR9.2a)))

- 1 I have a lot of books on my shelf.
- 2 She eats quite a lot of rice.
- 3 They drink lots of water.
- 4 I don't have much coffee.
- 5 We don't have many tomatoes.

- In positive sentences we usually use a lot of/lots of for both countable and uncountable nouns to talk about a big quantity.
- We use quite a lot of to talk about a medium quantity.
He has quite a lot of clothes. NOT ~~He has quite lots of clothes.~~
- In negative sentences we usually use much with uncountable nouns and many with plural countable nouns.
I don't have much coffee. (= I only have a small quantity)
They don't have many lemons. (= They have some, but not a lot)
- We can also use a lot of or lots of in negative sentences for both countable and uncountable nouns.
I don't have a lot of/lots of time.

GR9.2b)))

- 1 A How many burgers can you eat? B Not many.
- 2 A How much bread do you eat? B I eat quite a lot of bread.

To ask questions about quantity, we use ...

- 1 How many with plural countable nouns.
- 2 How much with uncountable nouns.

Countable

How many books are there?	A lot/Lots.	There are a lot of/lots of books.
	Quite a lot.	There are quite a lot of books.
	Not many.	There aren't many books.
	None.	There aren't any books.

Uncountable

How much milk do you drink?	A lot/Lots.	I drink a lot/lots of milk.
	Quite a lot.	I drink quite a lot of milk.
	Not much.	I don't drink much milk.
	None.	I don't drink any milk.

We use none in a short answer, but we say no with a noun in a full sentence. We often use no in sentences with there is/there are.
There's no milk. OR There isn't any milk. NOT ~~There's none milk.~~
There are no potatoes. OR There aren't any potatoes.
NOT ~~There are NONE.~~

I So, ... Tell us about your life here in Britain. Are you from London?

G Well, my name is Godwin. I'm from Nigeria originally. My wife, Sylvie, is French. Actually, she's half-French: her mother's French and her father's from Brazil. Our two children were born in England, so they're British ... We speak English at home. Our home's in north London. Many different nationalities live here. The neighbours are a family from Iraq. Next to our house is a Polish supermarket and the restaurant across the road is Lebanese. I work for an American organization – but my boss isn't American, she's Turkish ... What else? ... I watch football and I play the saxophone and, oh yeah, my saxophone's Japanese.

T Come in. Oh, hello. What's your name?

G Hi, I'm Godwin.

T I'm Andy, the saxophone teacher. Are you a student?

G No, I'm not. I have a job.

T No ... I mean, are you a student for the saxophone class?

G Oh, sorry, yes. Yeah, I am.

T Where are you from, Godwin?

G I'm from Nigeria, but London's my home now.

T Is it your first class?

G Yes, it is.

T OK. Well, let me introduce you to the other students.

G OK.

T This is Murielle. She's a student here, too.

G Hi, Murielle. Nice to meet you. I'm Godwin.

M Nice to meet you, too.

G Murielle's a French name. Are you French?

M No, I'm from Senegal. But my first language is French.

Dubai is a very multicultural city in the United Arab Emirates. People come here to work from many different countries. Only 10% of people in Dubai are Emirati: 90% of the city's population are from other countries. Some people come from the UK and the USA, but many people are from Asia. India is home for most of Dubai's workers, but people come from Pakistan and the Philippines, too. The language of the United Arab Emirates is Arabic, but because of its international population, lots of people use English.

I'm a scientist. I study penguins on Bird Island and I'm very happy here. In the summer, my days are long. I get up early and go to the beach. I watch the penguins with their babies. I sometimes go out in a boat with the other scientists on the island. We visit different islands and take photos of the birds and animals there.

I often work all day and I only stop in the evening to have dinner. I sometimes go back to the beach after dinner to spend more time with the penguins. Then I work in the lab. I always go to bed late! In the winter, the weather is always very cold, but we usually have more free time and I can relax.

All astronauts in Europe learn their job at the European Astronaut Centre in Cologne in Germany. The training is hard, but it's interesting and I love it. My day starts at ten to seven when I get up. I have a shower and then have breakfast in the canteen at quarter to eight. Classes begin at half past eight. In the morning, we study things like engineering and physics. At quarter past eleven, we stop and have a break. I usually have a coffee and I also try and learn some Russian vocabulary. We all learn Russian here. Classes start again at half past eleven.

Lunch is at one o'clock, and in the afternoons we have more classes from quarter past two. We learn to use the space equipment and machines and we also have language classes. Classes finish at quarter to six. I always feel really tired, but I often go to the gym in the evening. I'm in bed by ten o'clock and by five past ten I'm usually asleep.

M I work at a cinema in town, but I don't sell tickets, I'm the piano player! At my cinema they have a lot of old, silent movies so they need someone to play music. I watch the film and decide what type of music to play. If it's a sad part of the film, I play slow music; but if it's an exciting part, I play it fast.
D I am a 'fire lookout' and I work in a big forest. Fire can be very dangerous here, so my job is to make sure no fires start. I work in a very high tower, so I can see very far. I check the weather on the internet every morning because strong winds can be a big problem. I like my job because the forest is beautiful and quiet.

- 3.14 »
 A new book by author and mechanic Matthew Crawford says that people who work with their hands are often happy in their jobs. The great thing about working with your hands is that you can see the result very quickly – you fix a bike and it works ... or it doesn't! It's not the same for people in office jobs. For them, success often comes after weeks or months of hard work, which can make them feel unhappy.

Not everyone agrees with the author. They say that office workers are happy because they usually work as part of a team, and that spending time with other people can help them to be happy. But people who work with their hands, like cleaners, mechanics, farmers and artists, often work on their own and can have a lonely life.

A recent report says that there is one job that makes people very happy. And who are these lucky people? Hairdressers! Researchers say that when they ask people in different jobs how happy they are, hairdressers usually answer they're 'very happy'. The report says there are three reasons why hairdressers are so happy. They don't usually work for a company, so they don't have a boss. They see a lot of different people every day. And they make their customers look good and feel good. So, because they see a lot of happy people every day, they're happy, too.

I live in New York City in the Lower East Side District. My flat is very small, but the rent is $800 a month. It's a studio flat. There isn't a kitchen, dining room, living room, or bedroom. I cook, eat, relax and sleep in one room.

The flat's on the 4th floor of a building between Delancey Street and Grand Street. The building is opposite a 24-hour garage and next to an Indian restaurant, so there are always lots of cars and people in the street. The cars are quite noisy.

It's a studio flat with only one room. My bed is on a shelf above the kitchen. The toilet and shower are under the shelf. In the kitchen there's a sink, a fridge and a cooker, but there isn't a dishwasher or a washing machine - I go to the launderette on Grand Street to wash clothes. In front of the window, there's a red carpet on the floor and there's an armchair and table with a television on it. From the window, I can see the East River. It's behind the building.

It's very difficult to find a flat in New York. I'm very lucky. I like my flat because it's in the centre of the city. There are shops and restaurants all around me. The Lower East Side isn't the best district in the city, but my flat is near a theatre and it's also near the East River and a small park. One of the things I don't like about my flat is that there isn't a lift. Also, unfortunately, I'm not near the underground station, but there's a bus stop opposite the door of my building.

- A What's special about Neft Daşlari?
 B It's a town on an oil platform in the Caspian Sea.
 A A town in the sea? Is it very small?
 B No, not really. There are 300 km of streets and 2,000 people. And there are lots of things to do.
 A Really? Are there any restaurants?
 B Of course! There are some nice restaurants and hotels, and there's a cinema and a park, too.
 A What about education? Is there a school?
 B Yes, there's a school, but there isn't a university.
 A So can people visit the place?
 B No, there aren't any tourists. Only people who work on Neft Daşlari can go there.

Today the typical town centre is very different from in the 1970s. Then, you couldn't buy everything from one shop. People needed to go to different shops: the butcher's for meat, the baker's for bread and the newsagent's for their newspapers. Shopping took a long time! But there were good things. You could TALK to the people in the shops. Now it's easy to buy everything in the supermarket and in the shopping centre. But customers can't ask for information and chat to the shop assistant like they could in the past. In the 1970s you couldn't go shopping on the internet, but now you can buy almost everything online. Online shopping is cheap and easy, so it's difficult for the high street shops. Lots of them closed. I can't buy my bread and meat in the town centre now. But there are some things customers can't buy online. The internet can't cut your hair, for example, and it can't give you a cup of coffee. In the 1970s you couldn't get a cup of coffee on the high street, but there are five cafés here now – and three hairdresser's!

... And, of course, we don't all wear the same clothes every day. But most of us have a colour, or two colours, that we wear more than others. And the colours you choose to wear can say a lot about you as a person. Let's start with a very common colour: are you wearing black? People who often wear black like to be the boss. It can make you look serious and important. But what about the opposite? I'm wearing white today. If you often wear white clothes, there's a good chance that you like things to be tidy and clean, and you enjoy a simple life. Yes, that's true – I am a tidy person.

Another popular colour is blue. This means you are a peaceful person and you don't like change ...

Now, how about some less common colours? Are you wearing red today? Do you often wear red? Well, the good news is that you are probably a strong person and you always try hard at everything you do.

Finally, who is wearing yellow? You are the good students because you love learning ... and – this is important – you are a lot of fun! So, does any of this sound true to you? ...

I hate shopping. Maybe it's because I'm a man, but I usually walk into a shop, choose something cheap, pay for it and leave quickly. The main problem is that it takes such a long time. But I'm here today to try the 'virtual mirror'. It's a new way to shop and it might change my life! I'm in a clothes shop and I need some jeans. But I don't need to take five pairs of jeans to the changing rooms. Instead, I just stand in front of this 'virtual mirror', press a button and it shows me in every pair of jeans the shop sells. I choose a pair, press a button and the mirror shows me wearing them! I press another button and the next pair appears. I can see myself in ten pairs in just one minute! And another thing: if I'm not sure, I press a button and a picture of me wearing the jeans goes to my Facebook page and my friends can say what they think. It's not difficult to use, and I can find the right jeans easily. So I make a note of the jeans I like, pay for them and go home!

The company behind the virtual mirror plans to put them in shops all around the world. So next time you need a new hat, top or coat, go to a shop with a virtual mirror!

People were surprised to see a bobsleigh team from Jamaica at the 1988 Winter Olympics in Canada. It wasn't very easy for the team to practise in Jamaica before the Olympics because there was no ice and there were no bobsleighs for them to use. They weren't successful in their races, but they were very popular with the people watching because they tried so hard. There was a film telling their story in 1993 called Cool Runnings and it was a huge success, making $150,000,000 around the world.

Welcome to The Money Programme. Today we're talking about the history of money. These days most people use notes, coins and credit cards to buy things. But people in the past used different ways of paying for things.

The Ancient Egyptians liked wearing their money on their fingers as rings. The rings were made of gold. When they wanted to pay for something they pulled a ring or two off their fingers.

People in ancient Turkey were some of the first to use coins as money in the 7th century BCE. The Romans also used coins but added pictures of their emperors to them in the first century BCE. The Chinese put their coins on a piece of string to make them more valuable.

For hundreds of years, people around the world paid for things with salt. In fact, the word 'salary' comes from a Latin word that means 'money used to buy salt.' This is because the Romans sometimes paid their soldiers with salt. The Lobi people of Ancient Ghana in Africa lived as farmers. Because they worked in the fields and there were a lot of snakes, they decided to make metal snakes and use them as money. They believed their snake money helped them to stay safe.

From a distance, Inhotim looks like typical Brazilian countryside, but as you get closer, you notice something a bit unusual. There are hundreds of tourists walking through the fields and gardens! This beautiful place started as a farm and for many years only farmers lived here. They worked in the fields and looked after the animals. But that all changed in the 1990s when billionaire Bernardo Paz decided to use the space for something very different. He created a 'Disneyland for art lovers'! Today, people travel from around the world and they look at the art. The spaces of Inhotim include more than 500 sculptures by Brazilian and international artists. As well as being important culturally, it is really important for the local area because Inhotim creates a lot of jobs – 1,000 people work here in the museum, gardens and restaurant. Although it is quite far from the usual tourist spots of Brazil, it is now a very successful and popular 'outdoor museum'. In 2011, nearly a quarter of a million people visited Inhotim. Mr Paz believes there will soon be a million visitors a year.

I remember my eighteenth birthday very well. It was on a Friday and I was really excited when I got home from college. I called out 'Mum? Dad?' But there was no answer. I walked into the living room. It was completely dark – I couldn't see anything! Then suddenly the lights came on and everyone was there! All my family and friends! And there was a huge birthday cake. I was really happy, but I couldn't see any presents. Then my dad told me to look behind the sofa and there they were – all my presents. A new tablet and a new suit – for my first job interview!

In April 2011, Fauja Singh celebrated his 100th birthday. In October 2011, he ran the Toronto marathon and became the first person aged 100 years old to finish a marathon. But Fauja didn't run his first marathon until the year 2000. Why not? This is his story.

Fauja was born in Punjab in India. He grew up on the family farm with his parents and brothers and sisters. He wasn't a strong child and he had problems with his legs. He didn't walk before he was five years old. But he was happy and life was good after he learnt to walk. Later, Fauja got married and had six children. But his happy life didn't continue. Unfortunately, his wife and two of his children – a daughter and a son – died.

Fauja then moved to London to live with another son, but he wasn't happy. It wasn't easy to forget about his life in India. So he started to go running. When he ran, he didn't think about the past and didn't feel sad. Then in 2000, at the age of 89, he ran his first London Marathon in a time of 6 hours and 54 minutes. And he didn't stop then. From 2000 to 2011 he ran eight marathons. He said marathons changed his life and helped him feel happy again.

P People usually think that video games are bad for children's health. But new research says that perhaps this isn't true. At a school in Hedgesville, West Virginia, in the USA, students played video games in their gym class every week. Some children didn't enjoy exercise before, but with games like Just Dance and surfing on Wii Sports Resort, they started to enjoy their gym classes. Jan Hamilton and Sarah White, two local parents, are in the studio with me to discuss this.

7.11 »

- P Jan and Sarah, you're both parents, what do you think of this idea?
J I think it's great. And it's a fun way to do exercise, too.
S Hmm ... I don't know about that. Some video games aren't OK for children because they're very violent.
J Yes, but they didn't use violent games like that at the school. They were exercise games, like Just Dance.
S Well, for me, it depends on the game. But you're right, some games can be good. My son plays the football video game FIFA for hours and hours sometimes. But then he goes out to the park and plays football with his friends, and they try to do things they see on the video game.
P Yes, my son is the same. What's your opinion, Jan?
J Well, they want to be like their heroes.
S I agree with that. They certainly do. But do we want our children to be like their heroes?
P Well, an interesting discussion, but I'm afraid that's all we have time for today.

The most popular sport in Argentina is football. People like playing it, going to games and watching it on TV. The Argentinian team won the World Cup in 1978 and 1986, and came second in 2014.

Basketball is also very popular, especially after Argentina won the semi-finals against the NBA players in 2004, and then took the Olympic gold home.

Tennis was a sport for rich people in the past, but now lots of people play it. The best Argentinian player, Juan Martín del Potro, is world number 8.

Winter sports are also very popular in Argentina, people often ski in the Andes Mountains. And of course lots of people jog in local parks or go to the gym to keep fit!

- 1 I love lazy holidays. I normally rent an apartment by the sea with my family. We lie on the beach most of the day and go swimming in the sea. For me, the most important thing to do on holidays is to relax and have fun.
- 2 For me, holidays are about culture, and I enjoy visiting all the art galleries and museums. Sometimes I go on a tour with a guide because it's a great way to learn about a place and its history. I also like going out on my own and looking around the town without a map. I always get lost, but I think it's the best way to find interesting places.

- K I see. And whereabouts in Guatemala did you go?
- T I visited the whole country. I started in Antigua – it's the historic capital – and then I went to Lake Atitlán, a beautiful lake in the mountains.
- K So what did you do and see?
- T I went on lots of tours, and I went trekking in the rainforest. My favourite thing was the ruins of a Mayan city in Tikal. They're in the middle of the rainforest and they're really beautiful. I climbed to the top of a temple at sunrise.
- K Wow! It sounds fantastic.

- G Guess what? I'm going to Moscow for two months.
- H Really? Is it for fun or do you have to work?
- G Well, a bit of both. You went to Moscow a few years ago, didn't you?
- H Yes, I did. I even lived there for a while.
- G How long did you live there?
- H Three years.
- G Oh, wow! And do you speak the language?
- H Yes, a little. I can buy things in shops and order food in restaurants.
- G And did you like the city?
- H Yes, it's great. I had a really good time.
- G What about things like accommodation and transport? What did you think of the transport system?
- H Well, the Underground is just ... fantastic! It's really famous! It was built in the 1930s, and every station is a work of art.
- G But is it a good way to travel around Moscow?
- H Well, local people complain about it a lot, but I always thought it was very good. And it's quite cheap.
- G What about the buses? Do the local people use the buses?
- H Oh yes, the buses are usually full. But to be honest, I got taxis quite a lot to my lessons. I taught in companies and local businesses, so I didn't want to be late! You know, Moscow's like lots of other big cities: lots of traffic, really busy, sometimes the transport is good, other days not so good. But there is one great thing: you can simply stand in the street and stop any car, like a taxi, and they give you a lift for money.
- G Oh wow, that's cool! OK, so moving on to accommodation ...

1 Papua New Guinea is 160 kilometres north of Australia.
 2 Singapore grows less than 10% of its food.
 3 Papua New Guinea grows about three-quarters of its food.
 4 Singapore got independence in 1965.
 5 The coldest temperature ever recorded in Singapore was 19.4 degrees Celsius.
 6 Less than a quarter of people in Papua New Guinea live in cities.

9.12 »

The first country we're going to look at today is Indonesia in South East Asia. It became independent in 1945 and now one of the most important days for the country is Independence Day on 17th August. There are 240 million Indonesians, and they live on 6,000 of its 18,110 islands. Java is only the fourth largest island, but 60% of Indonesians live on it. Two of the main cities are on Java: Jakarta, the capital of Indonesia, with 9.6 million people, and Surabaya, the second largest city, with 2.7 million.

9.13 »

Now, moving on, the country is 5,120 kilometres from east to west and 1,760 kilometres from north to south. Forty million Indonesians work on farms, which is 1/6 of all Indonesians. The climate is perfect for growing rice because the temperature is usually between 25 and 35 degrees Celsius, and there is 3,175 millimetres of rain a year. In mountain areas this can be 6,100 millimetres. Indonesia is the third largest rice growing country in the world, but it still imports about three million tonnes of rice a year.

- P Welcome to the program, Dr Zhang from the National Food and Health Group.
- D Thank you.
- P So, you're here today to talk about some interesting numbers about food.
- D That's right. Firstly, do you know how many different types of tomato there are in the world? Well, some people say 10,000, but other people say there are about 25,000.
- P Oh, really?
- D Yes. And staying with fruit, when you're watching your calories, try a lemon. There are only 17 calories in a lemon.

- P Only 17? And what about milk?
- D Well, it's surprising to hear that a cup of 2% fat milk contains 12.3 grams of sugar – that's about 50 calories.
- P That's a lot of calories. How much does the average American eat every year?
- D The answer to that was 891 kilograms of food in 2011.
- P Wow! That's huge. And there's time for just one more fact.
- D Well, I think we should finish in Italy – a country of coffee lovers. They drink 14 billion cups every year. That's over 200 cups for every man, woman and child in the country.
- P Well, some of those numbers are amazing. Dr Zhang, thank you very much for coming today ...

- A OK, so we can take a tent and sleeping bag each and we need to decide on the five most important things to take as well.
- T Well, we need cooking equipment – we have to eat – but I think we should take one stove instead of three because we don't need one each.
- A I think a lighter is more important than a stove because we can make a fire for cooking with wood from the forest.
- Z I'm sorry, but I don't agree. Taking a stove is a better idea than making a fire because what happens if it rains? If we have the lighter and the stove – then we can cook inside the tent.
- A OK, so a stove, lighter and cooking equipment makes three things. We can have two more.

Z Well, we need to find our way to the camp. I think a map and compass are the most useful things for this because a GPS could break or run out of battery.

A But that's two more things and we can't have any more than that. What happens if we need the first-aid kit? I'd prefer to take the GPS instead of the map and compass because then we can have the first-aid kit.

T But what about the torch? I don't like the forest at night time!

A It gets dark quite late, and we should go to bed early after a long day walking in the forest, so I don't think we need the torch.

Z OK, let's take the GPS and the first-aid kit.

O Great, thanks! We're getting emails from people all around the world telling us how they're going to celebrate the day.

I That's good to hear. So what is everyone going to do?

O Oh, all sorts of things. A lot of people are going to make soup and sandwiches and give them to homeless people. I had an email from a man yesterday – he isn't going to eat for 24 hours and he's going to collect money for his local hospital. And, of course, we're going to post everything on our website for people to see.

I Are you going to have time to do something yourself?

O No, I'm afraid I'm not going to have much time at all. But we are going to have a big party here at the office and everyone needs to buy a ticket to come. And all the money goes to charity, of course.

A Yeah, of course. We've got five main questions so far ...
B I see, yes, these are really good. I'd like to know about the types of questions in the exam too. Shall I write that down?
A Yes, good idea. And when are we going to ask Dr Pedersen about all this?
C I'm going to have a meeting with him this afternoon. Why don't I give him the list then?
A Yes, that's perfect, Shaz. Then we can talk about it in class tomorrow. Now, the next thing is the homework ...

Conversation 2

- A So I'll read the list and if anyone would like to do something, please just say. Is that OK?
B I'll take notes so we don't forget.
A Thank you. That's very helpful. OK, first there's the problem with rubbish in the park.
C Oh, shall I do that? I go to the park every day anyway.
A Thank you, Janek.
B Let me help you with that, Janek. It's a big park.
C Thanks.
A Great! What's next? Ah yes, we need someone to paint the walls of the school.
D Oh, my husband and his brother could probably do that. Would you like me to ask them?
A Yes, that would be very helpful, thank you. Now, then ...

- M Do you have any New Year's Resolutions this year?
W Yeah, I'm going to spend less time at work.
M Really? Are you going to spend more time with your friends and family?
W Yes, I want to spend more time with my brother because he's going to move next year.
M Really? Is he going to look for a new apartment?

- W Oh, I didn't tell you. He's going to move to Italy.
M Wow! Great! Are you and Johan going to visit him?
W That's my other resolution. We're not going to join a gym this year because it's too expensive. So we're going to save some money for a trip to Italy instead!

Nobuyuki Tsujii was born blind, but he started playing on a toy piano at the age of just two. He began learning the piano two years later, and he gave his first big concert in Tokyo when he was twelve years old. He's in his twenties now, but he has given concerts all over the world, and he has won many prizes and international competitions. He has written music for film and TV, too. He hasn't seen the written music, but he has learnt to play some of the most difficult pieces of music in the world only through sound. His classical music fans have said this is amazing.

- P I've always loved music. I don't play an instrument, but I've always wanted to play in a band. I like pop music, rock and jazz, and since I was a child I've had a big music collection. In my free time I often go to rock concerts and I usually go to two or three music festivals a year. I haven't been to a classical music concert before, but I'm going to my first one next week!
J My parents are artists, so I've had lots of drawing and painting lessons. I enjoy painting a lot and I often do it in my free time. I like going to art galleries, too. I also like writing – I've started writing two or three books, but I haven't finished any of them!

- A I had dance lessons at school, but I wasn't very good, so I stopped going. But I've always wanted to dance, so I've started going to salsa classes. I love it! I also enjoy going to the theatre to see plays, and especially to see musicals. I live in a big city, so I've been to see all the big musicals – they're fantastic!

- I Have you ever left the cinema early?
 S1 Oh yes! I've left in the middle of a lot of films. I don't want to sit in a cinema watching something really bad – life's too short!
 S2 I've never left the cinema early, but I've often wanted to. A few months ago, I went to see a terrible film. Someone walked out every five minutes. At the end of the film, I was the only person left! But I think you have to watch the whole film or you don't know if it's good or bad!
 S3 Yes, I have. I walked out once – it was last summer and it was a beautiful day. The film was really boring, so I just decided to leave.
 S4 No, I haven't, but I've fallen asleep in a lot of cinemas! When the lights go out, and the seats are comfortable, and the film is slow, then I just can't stay awake! I've never walked out of a film, though. I think it's rude to other people who are watching.

- P Good evening. Our guest tonight is Mark Russell, who is going to talk about the Indian film industry, Bollywood, and one of its biggest stars. Mark, welcome.
 M Thanks, Steffi.
 P Tell us a little bit about Bollywood. Many of us have heard of it, but perhaps we don't all know much about it. Is it bigger than Hollywood these days?
 M Yes, it is. In the last ten years, Bollywood has made more films and it's sold more tickets, too. For example in 2009, Bollywood produced over 1,200 films and Hollywood made only about 500. Also, Bollywood films have become popular all over the world and they've made them in lots of countries.

12.15 »

- M One of the biggest names in Bollywood is Hema Sardesai.
 P I've never heard of her. Is there a reason for that?
 M Well, she's a playback singer. This means that she records the songs that other actors use in their films. The actors move their mouths, but they are not singing. The voice is really the voice of a playback singer like Hema.
 P So we never see her.
 M Not exactly. She's recorded playback songs for over sixty Bollywood films, but she's also had a few successful albums. Also, she's been in shows all over India, and she's visited a lot of different countries.
 P So, she's quite famous in India outside Bollywood?
 M Oh, yes. When India celebrated fifty years of independence, she sang her own song and three million people watched her live.

 F Yes, sure. Oh wait, she's just come back. Hang on a minute. I'll just get her.
 C Hi, Marcus.
 M Hi, Caitlin. Have you booked tickets for the comedy club tonight?
 C No, I haven't. Their website said they're sold out tonight.
 M Oh no. Well why don't you call them and ask about returned tickets? Sometimes people return tickets because they can't go.
 C Oh yes, I didn't think of that. Good idea! I'll call them now and I'll call you back in a minute.
 M Thanks, Caitlin. Speak soon.
 C OK. Bye.
 R Good afternoon. Phoenix Comedy Club. How can I help you?
 C Hello. Could I speak to the ticket office manager, please?
 R I'm afraid he's not available at the moment. Can I help?
 C Maybe. I'm calling about the show tonight. Your website says it's sold out, but has anyone returned any tickets?

- R Oh, I'm not sure. You'll need to speak to the ticket office manager about that.

- These days, Verona coliseum is famous for its opera festival, but it has been a place to see other types of entertainment over the years. The Romans built the coliseum almost two thousand years ago for sports and games called 'ludi'. The most famous of these games were fights between gladiators. These events were very popular and people came from far away to see them. In 1117, there was a big earthquake in Verona and people didn't use the coliseum for a long time. However, centuries later, the Venetians decided to repair the building and use it for concerts. From that time, hundreds of thousands of people have come to Verona to listen to music and many famous opera singers and ballet dancers have performed there.

1 Video Family

Vox pops

- 1 How many people are there in your family? Write the number next to each family member, e.g. if you have two sisters, write 2 next to sister. Then compare with your partner. Are your families similar or different?

aunt brother cousin daughter nephew niece sister son uncle

- 2 Watch the video. Do sections 1 and 2.

Can you tell me about your family?

- 1 Circle the correct option.

- 1 Meriam's sister lives in Amsterdam / Leiden.
- 2 Omar's sister is 18 / 20 years old.
- 3 Libby's brother is 52 / 53 years old.
- 4 Izzy has four sisters / brothers.
- 5 Richard's nephew is called Graham / Griffin.

- 2 Decide if the sentences are true (T) or false (F).

- | | | |
|---|---|---|
| 1 Meriam's sister is 20 years old. | T | F |
| 2 Omar's sister lives in North London. | T | F |
| 3 Libby's daughter is called Stella. | T | F |
| 4 Izzy's brothers are all in their mid-40s. | T | F |
| 5 Richard's younger brother is called Graham. | T | F |

- 3 Interview a partner. Use the questions below or think of your own questions.

- 1 Is it good or bad to be in a big family? Why/Why not?
- 2 What about a small family? Why/Why not?
- 3 Which would you prefer? Why/Why not?
 - a lots of brothers and sisters

Introduction to Navigate

Navigate is an English language course for adults that incorporates current knowledge about language learning with concern for teachers' views about what makes a good course.

Many English language courses today are based on market research, and that is appropriate. Teachers know what works in their classrooms, out of the many kinds of materials and activities they have available. However, relying only on market research discourages innovation: it ignores the wealth of knowledge about language learning and teaching that has been generated. Navigate has been developed in a cycle which begins by calling on both market research and the results of solid experimental evidence; and then by turning back to classrooms once more for piloting and evaluation of the resulting materials.

A course for adults

This is a course for adults, whether they want to use English for study, professional or social purposes. Information-rich texts and recordings cover a range of topics that are of interest and value for adults in today's world. Learners are encouraged to use their own knowledge and experience in communicative tasks. They are seen as motivated people who may have very busy lives and who want to use their time efficiently. Importantly, the activities in the course are based on how adults best learn foreign languages.

Grammar: accuracy and fluency

Adults learn grammar best when they combine a solid conscious understanding of rules with communicative practice using those rules (Norris & Ortega, 2000; Spada & Lightbown, 2008; Spada & Tomita, 2010). Navigate engages learners in thinking about grammar rules, and offers them a range of communicative activities. It does not skimp on information about grammar, or depend only on communicative practice for grammar learning. Texts and recordings are chosen to exemplify grammar features.

Learners are invited, when appropriate, to consider samples from a text or recording in order to complete grammar rules themselves. Alternatively, they are sometimes asked to find examples in a text that demonstrate a rule, or to classify sentences that fall into different rule categories. These kinds of activities mean that learners engage cognitively with the rules. This means that they will be more likely to notice instances of the rules when they encounter them (Klapper & Rees, 2003), and to incorporate the rules into their own usage on a long-term basis (Spada & Tomita, 2010).

Navigate also offers learners opportunities to develop fluency in using the grammar features. Aspects of a grammar feature that may keep learners from using it easily are isolated and practised. Then tasks are provided that push learners to use the target grammar features in communicative situations where the focus is on meaning.

For more on Navigate's approach to grammar, see pages 24–25 of this book.

Vocabulary: more than just knowing words

Why learn vocabulary? The intuitive answer is that it allows you to say (and write) what you want. However, the picture is more complex than this. Knowing the most important and useful vocabulary is also a key element in reading and listening; topic knowledge cannot compensate for vocabulary knowledge (Jensen & Hansen, 1995; Hu & Nation, 2000), and guessing from context usually results in guessing wrongly (Bensoussan & Laufer, 1984). Focusing on learning vocabulary generates a virtuous circle in terms of fluency: knowing the most important words and phrases means that reading and listening are more rewarding, and more reading and listening improves the ability to recall vocabulary quickly and easily.

Navigate's vocabulary syllabus is based on the Oxford 3000.

This is a list of frequent and useful vocabulary items, compiled both on the basis of information in the British National Corpus and the Oxford Corpus Collection, and on consultation with a panel of over seventy language learning experts. That is to say, an initial selection based on corpus information about frequency has been refined using considerations of usefulness and coverage. To build Navigate's vocabulary syllabus, the Oxford 3000 has then been referenced to the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages (CEFR; Council of Europe, 2001), so that each level of the course focuses on level-appropriate vocabulary. For more information on the Oxford 3000, see pages 26–27 of this book.

Adult learners typically take responsibility for their learning, and vocabulary learning is an area where out-of-class work is important if learners want to make substantial progress. Navigate focuses on giving learners tools to maximize the efficiency of their personal work on vocabulary. One way it does this is to teach not only individual vocabulary items, but also a range of vocabulary systems, for example how common prefixes and suffixes are used. Another is to suggest strategies for vocabulary learning. In this way, learners are helped to grow their vocabulary and use it with greater ease.

Speaking: putting it all together

Based on a synthesis of research about how adults learn, (Nation & Newton, 2009) demonstrate that different kinds of activities are important in teaching speaking. Language-focused learning focuses explicitly and in detail on aspects of speaking such as comprehensible pronunciation, appropriately polite language for a given situation or tactics for holding the floor in a conversation. Fluency development gives learners focused practice in speaking more quickly and easily. Meaning-focused output provides opportunities to speak in order to communicate meaning, without explicitly focusing on using correct language.

Navigate covers all three kinds of activities. The course systematically teaches aspects of pronunciation and intonation that contribute to effective communication; appropriate expressions for a range of formal and informal situations; and ways of holding one's own in a conversation.

It offers activities to help learners speak more fluently. Very importantly, it offers a wealth of meaning-focused activities. Very often, these activities are tasks: they require learners to do something together to achieve something meaningful. These tasks meet Ur's (1981) criteria for a task that works: straightforward input, a requirement for interaction, an outcome that is challenging and achievable, and a design that makes it clear when learners have completed the task. Learners are not just asked to discuss a topic: they are asked to do something with some information that involves expressing thoughts or opinions and coming up with a recognizable outcome.

Reading: not just a guessing game

Typical English language courses tend to test rather than teach reading; and they often concentrate on meaning-focused strategies that assume learners should be helped to puzzle out the meaning in the text on the basis of prior knowledge. There is a large body of evidence that shows why this is inefficient, discussed in the essay on reading on pages 20–21 of this book. Activities such as thinking about the topic of the text in advance or trying to guess unknown words have limited benefit in helping learners to understand the text at hand. These activities have even less benefit in helping learners understand the next text they will read, and as Paul Nation (2009) notes, that is surely the goal of the classroom reading activity. Navigate focuses on explicit teaching of things like sound-spelling relations, vocabulary that appears often in certain kinds of texts, the ways that words like pronouns and discourse markers hold texts together, and techniques for simplifying difficult sentences. These will give learners ways of understanding the text they are reading, but more importantly the next text they will read.

Listening: a very different skill

Too many books treat listening as if it were just another kind of reading, using the same sorts of activities for both. Navigate takes into account that listening is linear – you can't look back at the text of something you're hearing – and that listening depends crucially on understanding the sounds of English and how they combine (Field, 2008). Practice on basic elements of listening will lead to faster progress, as learners acquire the tools to hear English better. People who read can stop, read again, and go back in the text; but listeners can't do this with the stream of speech. For listening, language-focused learning means starting with building blocks like discriminating the sounds of the language, recognizing the stress patterns of words, distinguishing word boundaries, identifying stressed and unstressed forms of common words, and holding chunks of language in mind for short periods. Concentrating on knowledge and skills like these will pay off more quickly than only focusing on meaning, and will make listening for meaning much more efficient. Fluency development in listening is important too: this means activities that teach learners to understand language spoken at natural speed, and give them progressive practice in getting better at it. Navigate includes activities that focus systematically on each of these areas separately, as well as giving opportunities to deploy this knowledge and these skills in more global listening. John Field's essay, on pages 22–23 of this book, gives more detail on this.

Writing for different purposes

Adults learning English for professional, academic or leisure activities will need to write different kinds of texts at different levels of formality. The Navigate writing syllabus is based on a so-called genre approach, which looks at the characteristics of the different kinds of texts students may be called upon to write. It implements this syllabus by way of activities that allow students to express their own meanings in drafting, discussing and redrafting texts. This has been shown to be an effective means of developing writing skills for adults (Hyland, 2011).

Navigate offers an innovative approach to developing reading and listening skills. This, combined with a solid speaking and writing syllabus, gives learners a sound foundation in the four skills. Grammar and vocabulary have equal importance throughout the course and learning is facilitated through the information-rich and engaging texts and recordings. It is the complete course for the 21st-century adult learner.

Navigate content overview

Coursebook lesson 1

Unit topics

Navigate is created for adult students with content that appeals to learners at this level. The unit topics have been chosen with this in mind and vary from My day and The past to The world around us.

Goals

The goals show students what they will be working on and what they will have learnt by the end of the lesson.

Vocabulary & Speaking

Navigate has a strong emphasis on active vocabulary learning. The first lesson in each unit contains a Vocabulary & Speaking, a Vocabulary & Listening or a Vocabulary & Reading section in which essential vocabulary for the unit is introduced and practised. The vocabulary in lesson 1 and 2 is taught in topic sets, allowing students to build their vocabulary range in a logical and systematic way.

My day

2.1 A day in the life of a scientist

GOALS ■ Talk about everyday actions ■ Use the present simple positive to talk about your day

Listening & Grammar present simple and adverbs of frequency

- 1 Work with a partner. Look at the photos and information about Bird Island and answer the questions.

- 1 Where is Bird Island?
2 What animals live there?

- 2 2.1 Listen to Melanie Szabo, a scientist on Bird Island. Listen to her talking about her day in the summer and in the winter. Tick (✓) the activities she mentions.

- | | |
|---------------------------|-------------------|
| 1 study penguins | 7 have dinner |
| 2 get up early | 8 work in the lab |
| 3 have breakfast | 9 write emails |
| 4 go out in a boat | 10 go to bed late |
| 5 visit different islands | 11 relax |
| 6 take photos | 12 read a book |

- 3 2.1 Listen again and complete the sentences with the correct verbs. Is Melanie talking only about today, or things she does every day?

- 1 In the summer, my days are long. I _____ early and _____ to the beach. I watch the penguins.
2 We _____ different islands and we _____ photos.
3 In the winter, we usually _____ more free time.

- 4a Work with a partner. Read the article about Melanie and her colleague, Sven. How are their jobs different?

SCIENTISTS ON BIRD ISLAND

Bird Island is an important scientific research centre. Every year lots of scientists visit the island, but Melanie Szabo, a professor of zoology, works there all year. Sven Olafsson, who is from Bergen in Norway, also works on the island. He studies seals and Melanie watches penguins. The penguins come to the beaches on the north of the island and Melanie often works there alone. Sven never works alone – he always works with the other scientists because the male seals are big and sometimes dangerous! Sven loves his job, but he works very hard and he hardly ever has free time. For Melanie, her favourite time is Saturday night. One of the scientists usually makes a big dinner for the group and they watch a movie together, relax or play games.

- b Work with a partner. Would you like to work on Bird Island? Why/Why not?

- 5 Work with a partner. Read the sentences and complete the rules in the Grammar focus box.

- 1 We visit different islands and we take photos.
2 Sven loves his job, but he works very hard and he hardly ever has free time.
3 Melanie watches penguins.

GRAMMAR FOCUS present simple positive

- We use the present simple to talk about repeated actions and things that are always true.
- To make the present simple positive, we use:
I/You/We/They + infinitive without to
He/She/It + infinitive without to + (s)
• When a verb ends in -ch, -sh, -ss, -s, -z, -x, we add s to the third person he/she/it form.
• The third person he/she/it form of have is has.

→ Grammar Reference page 138

PRONUNCIATION third person -s/es

- The third person -s is pronounced /s/ or /z/ with most verbs, e.g. works, goes.
- With verbs ending in -ch, -sh, -ss, -s, -z or -x, the third person he/she/it form is pronounced /ɪz/, e.g. watches, washes.

- 6a 2.2 Listen to three sentences and repeat.
1 Melanie watches penguins. /wɪtʃ/ 3 Sven loves his job. /lʌvz/
2 Sven also works on the island. /wɜːks/

- b 2.3 Listen and circle the final sound you hear in verbs 1–6.
1 goes /z/ /ɪz/ 3 cooks /s/ /ɪz/ 5 makes /s/ /ɪz/
2 teaches /z/ /ɪz/ 4 relaxes /s/ /ɪz/ 6 plays /z/ /ɪz/

- c 2.4 Listen, check and repeat.

- 7a Read the Grammar focus box about adverbs of frequency.

GRAMMAR FOCUS adverbs of frequency

- Adverbs of frequency, e.g. always, never, sometimes, etc., tell us how often or how frequently something happens.
- In the present simple, adverbs of frequency come after the verb to be, but before all other verbs.
In the winter, the weather is always very cold.
Melanie often works there alone all day.

→ Grammar Reference page 138

- b Work with a partner. Underline the adverbs of frequency in exercise 4a. Write them in the correct place in the diagram.

- 8a Read the sentences about a scientist's week and complete the sentences with the correct form of the verbs in the box.

arrive be go (x2) get up have relax return work

- 1 During the week, he gets up early and he _____ at a volcano at seven o'clock. (always/usually)
2 His work _____ dangerous and he _____ alone. (sometimes/never)
3 He _____ to the research centre at about 1 o'clock and he _____ lunch in the lab. (usually/always)
4 On Friday and Saturday nights he _____ at home. He _____ out with friends and he _____ to bed early. (usually/hardly ever/often)

- b Read the sentences in exercise 8a again and put the adverbs in (brackets) in the correct places.

- c 2.5 Listen and check your answers.

Vocabulary & Speaking daily activities

- 9a Work with a partner. Match illustrations 1–12 to the phrases in the box.

get up go home go to bed go to work/college have a shower have lunch/dinner listen to music make breakfast play video games read a book see friends watch TV/a film

- b 2.6 Listen, check and repeat.

- 10a TASK Tell your partner five things about your day, using the phrases in exercise 9a and adverbs of frequency. Give more information when you can.

I get up at about eight o'clock.
I (sometimes/always/never) have a shower ..., etc.

- b Work with a different partner. Tell them about your first partner's day.
Alexa gets up at eight o'clock. She always has a shower.

VOX POPS VIDEO 2

Listening & Grammar

Grammar forms the 'backbone' of Navigate. Lesson 1 introduces the first grammar point of the unit. It is always combined with a skill, either reading or listening. See page 24 of this book for more information.

Grammar focus box

At this level of Navigate, grammar is introduced deductively when a new topic is introduced or inductively when the students are extending their knowledge on a particular area (see the Grammar focus box in lesson 2.2). Students are asked to complete the information in the Grammar focus box based on what has been introduced in previous exercises in the Grammar & Listening or Grammar & Reading exercises. The Grammar focus box is followed by a number of spoken and written exercises in which the grammar is practised further.

Vox pops video

Most units contain a prompt to the Vox pops videos. The videos themselves can be found on the Coursebook DVD or Coursebook e-book, and the Worksheets that accompany them are on the Teacher's Support and Resource Disc. The videos themselves feature a series of authentic interviews with people answering questions on a topic that has been covered in the lesson. They offer an opportunity for students to hear real people discussing the topics in the Coursebook.

Coursebook lesson 2

Listening & Vocabulary

Navigate has a strong emphasis on everyday vocabulary that allows students to speak in some detail and depth on general topics. Here students work on telling the time. All target vocabulary in the unit can also be found in the wordlists on the Teacher's Support and Resource Disc, the e-book and the DVD packed with the Coursebook.

Reading & Grammar

Lesson 2 provides the second grammar point of the unit. It is always presented through a reading text or audio extract, and is practised through both controlled and freer exercises.

Task

Each lesson ends with a task which allows students to practise with others what they have learnt in the lesson. They often work in pairs or groups to complete the task.

2.2 Spending time

GOALS ■ Tell the time ■ Use the present simple negative

Listening & Vocabulary

telling the time

1a

Work with a partner. Do you think sentences 1-3 are true (T) or false (F)?
1 It takes about a year to learn to be an astronaut. T / F
2 Some astronauts stay in space for over a year at a time. T / F
3 Astronauts don't need perfect eyesight. T / F

b

Turn to page 127 and check your answers.

27 Sanaa Diya is a trainee astronaut at the European Astronaut Centre (EAC) in Cologne, Germany. Listen and answer the questions.
1 What does she think about the training?
2 What subjects does she learn?

27 Listen again and match activities 1-6 in Sanaa's day to times a-f.
1 She gets up
2 She has breakfast in the canteen
3 She goes to morning classes
4 She stops for a break in the morning
5 Classes finish in the evening
6 She goes to sleep
a at quarter to eight.
b at ten to seven.
c at quarter to six.
d at five past ten.
e at quarter past eleven.
f at half past eight.

4a

Work with a partner. Write the times under the clocks.

1 It's three o'clock. 2 3

7 8 9

10 11 12

b

28 Listen, check and repeat.

PRONUNCIATION

saying the time

- When we say the time, we don't stress past or to, e.g. twenty-five past three, ten to seven.
- We don't pronounce the letter i in half, so we say /ha:lf/.
- Quarter begins with a /k/ sound, so we say /kwɔ:tə/.

5a

29 Listen to the times. Circle the words you hear.
1 quarter / half past eight 4 five / quarter to six
2 quarter to / past three 5 twenty to / past three 3 ten to / past ten 6 twenty / twenty-five to four

b

29 Listen again and repeat.

6

Work with a partner. Talk about what time you do these things or what time they happen where you live.
• the sun rises in summer • you have lunch
• you get up • the shops close
• the shops open • public transport stops
• your favourite TV programme starts
The sun rises at about half past six.
Shops like the baker's open early, at eight o'clock.

Reading & Grammar

present simple negative

7

Work with a partner. What's different about life on earth and life in space? Use the ideas in the box.
daytime and night-time washing sleeping

8a

Read the article about Canadian astronaut Chris Hadfield and life in space. Check your ideas in exercise 7.

A perfect day

When Chris Hadfield goes into space, he doesn't have a lot of free time. He works twelve hours a day and also does two hours' exercise. Life in space is very different to life on earth. Astronauts don't have showers like people on earth do - they wash with a cloth. They don't sleep in a bed - they sleep in special sleeping bags on the walls. It is difficult to know the time because in space the sun doesn't rise once a day - it rises once every 45 minutes. It's hard work, but most astronauts love being in space. Chris says it is amazing and he doesn't want to sleep. For him, every day in space is a perfect day!

b

Underline the negative verb forms in exercise 8a, e.g. doesn't have, and complete the rules in the Grammar focus box.

GRAMMAR FOCUS

present simple negative

To make the present simple negative, we use:
I/You/We/They + do not () + infinitive without to
He/She/It + does not () + infinitive without to

Grammar Reference page 139

9a

Change these sentences from positive to negative. Use contractions.
1 They have a lot of free time.
They don't have a lot of free time.
2 I go to classes in the evening.
3 Chris has a shower in the morning.
4 Sanaa sleeps in a sleeping bag.
5 They speak to their families every day.
6 He works eight hours a day.

b

210 Listen, check and repeat.

10a

Work with a partner. Do you think these things usually happen or not in space?
A I don't think astronauts get sick on their first trip into space.
B Really? I disagree. I think they usually get sick.
1 get sick on their first trip into space
2 wear special clothes in the space station
3 change their clothes every day
4 exercise a lot
5 go on a spacewalk every day
6 sleep a lot

b

211 Listen and check your ideas.

11a

TASK Chris says every day in space is a perfect day for him. Describe a perfect day for you. Write down three things you do and three things you don't do.
On a perfect day, I don't go to work. I have breakfast in bed at about half past nine - fresh fruit, coffee and a croissant - and I get up at ten o'clock.

b

Compare your sentences with a partner. Is their perfect day similar or different to yours?

c

Work with a different partner. Tell them about your first partner's perfect day.

Pronunciation

Most units contain pronunciation work in either lesson 1 or lesson 2. Pronunciation in Navigate is always relevant to the grammar or vocabulary input of the lesson. The pronunciation exercises in the first two lessons focus mostly on speech production to improve intelligibility (for instance, minimal pairs and word stress). Pronunciation also appears in some Speaking and writing lessons and there it focuses mostly on teaching aspects of pronunciation that cause problems and confusion for listening comprehension (pronunciation for receptive purposes).

Grammar Reference

At the end of the Coursebook, the Grammar Reference section offers more detailed explanations of grammar and a series of practice exercises. This can be set as homework and then reviewed in class.

Navigate content overview

Coursebook lesson 3

Reading & Speaking

Navigate contains reading texts covering a wide variety of topics, text types and sources. As well as comprehension of interesting reading and listening texts, in this section students work on decoding skills to develop their reading or listening. These decoding skills, for example, predicting, connected speech, linking words, referencing words, etc., drill down to the micro level of reading and listening, and enable students to develop strategies to help them master these skills. See pages 20 and 21 of this book for more information.

Vocabulary and skills development

This lesson works on vocabulary and skills development. Students will, for instance, practise collocations, word building and word stress. The lesson also contains reading, writing, listening and/or speaking exercises.

2.1 2.2 2.3 2.4 2.5

2.3 Vocabulary and skills development

GOALS ■ Understand conjunctions in reading ■ Use verb + preposition phrases

Reading & Speaking understanding conjunctions

1 Work in small groups. When do you think is the best time to do the things in the box? Why?

go to sleep have breakfast have dinner wake up

2a Read the sentences about sleep. Look at the words in bold and answer questions 1-4.

- 1 I usually only sleep five or six hours a night, but I sleep well.
- 2 I sleep for a long time, but I don't always feel good in the mornings.
- 3 I am often worried about something and wake up in the night.
- 4 I never get enough sleep because I am always busy.

1 Which word joins two similar ideas?
2 Which word do we use to show something different?
3 Which word answers the question Why?
4 Which word joins two possibilities?

b Read the information in the Unlock the code box about conjunctions. Check your answers to exercise 2a.

UNLOCK THE CODE understanding conjunctions

- Understanding conjunctions in sentences, e.g. and, but, because, and or, helps you understand a text.
- We use:
 - and with similar ideas
 - or with two or more choices or possibilities
 - because to say why something happens
 - but to contrast two different pieces of information.

3a Match beginnings 1-4 to endings a-d. Use the conjunctions to help you.

1 I have lunch at one or
2 I wake up and
3 People eat because 4 I try to wake up early, but a have breakfast.

b it's difficult!
c they're hungry.
d two in the afternoon.

b 2.12 Listen, check and repeat.

Vocabulary & Speaking verb + preposition

6a Complete the two sentences with prepositions.

1 It is also useful to think _____ what time you eat.
2 _____ if you listen _____ your own body clock, you can live a healthier life.

b Check your answers in the article in exercise 5a.

c Read the information in the Vocabulary focus box about verbs and prepositions.

VOCABULARY FOCUS verb + preposition

- Some verbs have a preposition, e.g. with, for, about, to, after them. These verbs need an object after the preposition.
I listen to music every day.
He never agrees with her.
Are you looking for your keys?
- We don't use a preposition when there is no object.
Wait! NOT Wait for!
Listen! NOT Listen to!

7a Work with a partner. Match beginnings 1-8 to answers a-h to make eight short conversations.

1 I watch the news on TV every morning.
2 It's a good idea.
3 Do you pay for tea and coffee at work?
4 Do people often wait for buses and trains in your city?
5 I'd like to talk to you before the meeting tomorrow.
6 Do we have a reply from them?
7 It's not nice to laugh at other people.
8 Do students often ask for a discount?

a No, they want more time to think about it.
b I listen to it on the radio.
c OK, are you free after lunch?
d I agree with you.
e No, they're free, but we buy sandwiches at lunchtime.
f I know, my grandmother always says that!
g Yes, but they need to show their student card.
h No, not often. They're usually on time.

b 2.13 Listen and check your answers.

c Work with a partner. Take turns to practise the conversations.

8a Work with a partner. Complete sentences 1-8 with a verb and preposition phrase from the box. Change the form of the verb if necessary.

agree with ask for laugh at listen to pay for talk to think about wait for 1 Tarik talks to his family on the phone every day.

2 Kristofer never _____ funny films. He doesn't enjoy them.
3 My sister never _____ people who are late.
4 I usually _____ my friends but we sometimes have different ideas.
5 Gregorja _____ pop and classical music.
6 When he's alone, he _____ his friends and family.
7 We always _____ our shopping with cash.
8 Intira always _____ help when she doesn't understand something in class.

b 2.14 Listen and check your answers.

9a TASK Make the sentences in exercise 8a true for you. Give more information by using conjunctions.
I don't talk to my family on the phone every day, but I talk to them every week.

b Compare your sentences with a partner. Tell the class two things that are similar and two things that are different.
We both talk to our families on the phone every day.

Know your body clock

Many of us get enough sleep and food, but still feel tired and hungry during the day. Perhaps this is because we sleep or eat at the wrong times.

There is no perfect time to sleep because everyone's body clock is different, but sleep expert Dr Michael Howell says the best sleep is six hours at night and two hours in the afternoon. The best time to have your afternoon sleep is six hours after you wake up, but this is not possible for most people because they are at work.

It is also useful to think about what time you eat. It is important to eat breakfast two hours after you wake up and dinner three hours before you go to sleep.

Perhaps the most important thing to remember is that if you listen to your own body clock, you can live a healthier life.

Unlock the code

This section describes the decoding skill that is being taught in the reading or listening skills lesson. They are general tips which can be used as tactics for understanding when reading or listening to texts. This Unlock the code box is about understanding conjunctions.

Vocabulary focus

Vocabulary focus boxes appear in this lesson to draw attention to a particular vocabulary area, in this case verbs and their prepositions. The students go on to do some exercises where they use the information in this study tip. In other units, Vocabulary boxes deal with pre- and suffixes, adjectives, etc.

Speaking and writing

Navigate understands that classes can be made up of adults learning English for many different reasons. In lesson 4 of every unit, Speaking and writing, Navigate provides appropriate communication practice for work, study or social life with an emphasis on language production. At the end of the speaking and writing sections, students complete a speaking or writing task. The lesson also contains two language focus boxes: Language for speaking and Language for writing.

2.4 Speaking and writing

GOALS ■ Make suggestions and arrangements ■ Describe where you live

Listening & Speaking making suggestions and arrangements

- 1 Work in small groups. Discuss the questions.
1 What time do the shops and restaurants open and close where you live?
2 What do you think is a 24-hour city?
- 2a 215 Karl Schmidt is from Germany and he is visiting Seoul for work. Bon Dae Kim, his Korean colleague, meets him at the airport. Listen and choose the correct answers.
1 Bon Dae Kim first invites Karl to go ... a shopping b to a meeting c to a restaurant
2 Bon Dae Kim first suggests they go at ... a midday b midnight c half past nine 3 Karl agrees to go at ... a midday b half past nine c five o'clock
4 Bon Dae Kim says that Seoul is a ... a 24-hour city b big city c busy city
- b Compare your answers with a partner.
- c Match questions 1-5 from the conversation to answers a-e.
1 Are you free tonight?
2 Would you like to go for dinner at Jinju Jip?
3 What time do you want to eat?
4 Do you want to do some shopping while you're here?
5 Where shall we meet?
a Let's go at half past nine.
b I will pick you up from your hotel.
c Yes, that sounds nice.
d Yes, I'd love to.
e Yes, I am.

d 215 Listen again and check your answers.

3 Work with a partner. Take turns to practise making suggestions and arrangements. Use the prompts and the Language for speaking box to help you.

LANGUAGE FOR SPEAKING making suggestions and arrangements

Making suggestions and arrangements

Are you free (tonight)?
Would you like to (do) ...?
Do you want to (do) ...?
Let's (do) ...
What time do you want to (do) ...?
Where shall we (do) ...?
Accepting
Yes, I'd love to.
Yes, that sounds nice.
Refusing
I'm sorry, but I'm busy this evening.
Thanks, but I'm afraid I have plans tonight.

4 Work with a partner. Take turns to make suggestions and arrangements. Student A, turn to page 127. Student B, turn to page 132.

Reading & Writing describe where you live

5 Work with a partner. Do you prefer to live in the town or the country? Talk about the good and bad things about each. Use the ideas in the box to help you.

buses/trains fresh air jobs noise prices things to do traffic

6a Read what three people say about where they live. Match a photo a-c to a description 1-3. Compare your answers with a partner.

1 I love it here! It's a very big city. I don't need a car – the buses and trains are very good. I often have lunch outside a café or a restaurant and watch people walk past. Of course the food is great but I sometimes have problems in the restaurants. I don't speak very good French! (and/because/but)

2 It's a really beautiful place. In summer, there are lots of tourists. In winter it's very quiet. I live in a small town: it doesn't have many shops, restaurants, museums, but for me that's not important. I love living near the sea. I can go swimming or walk along the beach when I want to. (because/but/or)

3 We live in this city because our jobs are here. We don't always enjoy city life – it's sometimes noisy and dirty. It's exciting. It's a 24-hour city: you can go out shopping, clubbing all night. My favourite place is the port. My office is there. I love watching the ships arrive from all over the world. (or/and/but)

b Work with a partner. Which place in exercise 6a would you like to live in? Why?

7a Read the information in the Language for writing box.

LANGUAGE FOR WRITING using conjunctions

Use and/but/or/because to help the reader understand your ideas.
Sydney has a lot of parks and museums.
It's a beautiful city, but it's very expensive.
You can travel by bus or train.
You need a car because the country is very big.

b Complete the descriptions in exercise 6a with the conjunctions in (brackets).

8a Complete these sentences about where you live using your own ideas.

- 1 I like _____, but I don't like _____.
- 2 At the weekend, I usually _____ or I _____.
- 3 My two favourite things to eat are _____ and _____.
- 4 I like/don't like big cities because _____.

b Compare your sentences with a partner. What is similar and what is different?

9a TASK Work with a partner. Think about where you live or a place you both know well. Make a list of good and bad things about it.

b Write a paragraph about the place (60-80 words). Leave gaps for the conjunctions.

c Give your text to another pair to complete the sentences. Check their answers.

10 TASK Work in small groups. Read all your texts. Which places would you like to live in? Why/Why not?

Language for speaking

The Language for speaking box contains phrases that students can use to complete a task about a particular topic. Here they have to make suggestions and arrangements and they can use the phrases in the box. Other language for speaking boxes cover Making requests, Asking for and giving directions and Showing interest.

Language for writing

The Language for writing box contains suggestions which students can use to complete their task in the writing section. There are various topics in this box throughout the Coursebook; here the focus is on conjunctions. In other units, the boxes focus on topics such as Opening and closing an email, Imperatives and Using a comma in lists.

Video

The Video page contains activities that accompany the unit video. This video is a documentary video or authentic interview. The video page starts with one or two warmer activities which set the scene before the students watch the video, followed by two activities which check understanding of the video. The final activity is a task based on what the students have just watched.

In A2 the video topics are:

Unit 1: Brighton language exchange
Unit 2: The Menna family
Unit 3: An Iranian doctor in the USA
Unit 4: Almas Tower
Unit 5: Camden Market
Unit 6: Istanbul
Unit 7: Health and fitness in New York

Unit 8: Adventure holidays
Unit 9: Making a pizza
Unit 10: The Grand Canyon
Unit 11: Silicon Fen
Unit 12: Park Theatre

2.5 Video

The Menna family

- 1 Work with a partner. Look at the people in the photos and think about ...
 - what nationality they are
 - where they live
 - what they like eating
 - how old they are
 - what jobs they do
 - what they do at weekends
- 2 Watch the video about the Menna family. Check your ideas in exercise 1. What other information do you find out about the family?
- 3 Watch the video again. Choose the correct option. Sometimes more than one answer is possible.
 - a Roberto works for a television network / for Channel 9 / at home.
 - b Gabriela goes to work at 5.30 / 6.30 / 7.30 a.m.
 - c Milagros and Julieta go to school by bus / go to the same school / go to different schools.
 - d The girls get up at 8 a.m. / 9 a.m. / 10 a.m. on Saturdays.
 - e Gabriela drinks chocolate milk / mate / coffee.
 - f After breakfast the girls play football / tennis / video games.
 - g They go to the park in the evening / in the afternoon / before lunch.
 - h The family usually visits the girls' aunt and uncle / cousins / grandparents on Sundays.
 - i They eat salad / pasta / rice with their barbecue.
 - j On Sundays they go to bed early / late / at 11 p.m.
- 4a TASK Work with a partner. You are going to do a class survey to find out whose weekend is the most different to yours. Write 6-8 questions to find out about other students' weekend routines.

Do you work at the weekend?
What time do you get up on Saturdays?
- b Ask other students in the class about their weekend routines. Whose weekend is the most different to yours?

Review

- 1a Complete the sentences with the present simple positive form of the verbs in the box.

go have like live study work

 - 1 I _____ classical music.
 - 2 After class, I _____ home by bus.
 - 3 My friend _____ in a bank.
 - 4 We _____ English on Mondays and Wednesdays.
 - 5 In my country, people _____ their main holiday in August.
 - 6 My classmate _____ in a flat in the city centre.
- b Work with a partner. Make the sentences in exercise 1a true for you. Give more information.

I don't like classical music. I like rock.
- 2a Look at the information and write sentences about people in the UK. Use words from the box.

always never sometimes hardly ever usually often

They never have fish for breakfast.

have fish for breakfast		go to a different city to study		eat lunch at work be late for meetings		have more than one TV at home		talk about the weather
- b 2.16 Listen and check your answers.
- c Change the adverbs of frequency to make the sentences true for where you live. Compare your sentences with a partner. How many sentences are the same?
- 3a Put the daily activities in the order people usually do them.

go to bed go to work get up have a shower have dinner go home have lunch watch TV
- b Work with a partner. Think of three more daily activities. Decide where they go in your order from exercise 3a.
- 4 Work with a partner. Say what time you usually do the activities in exercise 3a. Do you do things at the same time as your partner?

I usually get up at six o'clock, but at weekends ...
- 5a Match beginnings 1-6 to endings a-f to make questions.
 - 1 What radio station do you
 - 2 Do you usually agree
 - 3 Do you normally
 - 4 Do you like waiting
 - 5 Who's the first person
 - 6 Do you pay
 - a for public transport?
 - b for things in shops by cash or by credit card?
 - c with everything your family/colleagues say?
 - d you talk to in the morning?
 - e listen to?
 - f ask for directions when you are lost?
- b Work with a partner. Ask and answer the questions in exercise 5a.
- 6a Complete the conversation with the words in the box.

busy free like love let's plans shall want

A: Are you ¹ _____ after class today?
B: I'm sorry, but I'm ² _____ this evening. But I don't have any ³ _____ tomorrow.
A: Would you ⁴ _____ to go out for a pizza?
B: Yes, I'd ⁵ _____ to. What time ⁶ _____ we meet?
A: Eight o'clock at Gino's? Or do you ⁷ _____ to meet at the station?
B: Yes, ⁸ _____ meet there at 7.45.
A: OK, see you then!
- b 2.17 Listen and check your answers.
- c Work with a partner. Use your own ideas and have a similar conversation.

Task

The Task on the Video page is an outcome task which focuses on fluency. It can be a writing or speaking task. Here the students compare weekend routines with their class mates. Other tasks on Video pages are, for instance, discussing jobs, thinking about and discussing a famous building, a presentation about shopping, writing an email about a trip to Istanbul.

Review

The Review page contains revision of grammar, vocabulary and the skills practised in the unit. The Review activities can be set for homework, but are also specifically designed to be done in class incorporating pairwork and group work tasks to give learners additional opportunities to practise key language from the unit.

Unit structure

The Workbook follows the Coursebook lessons. The first two spreads each have two pages of exercises which correspond with the Coursebook contents of the same lessons. Spreads 3 and 4 of the Workbook each have a page of extra practice which corresponds to the material in lessons 3 and 4 of the Coursebook. The Workbook also contains lessons for extensive reading and listening, review exercises, audioscripts of the listening material in the Workbook and answer keys (with key version only).

Vocabulary

In the Workbook, students find further practice of the vocabulary which they learnt in the corresponding lesson of the Coursebook. They can do this individually and at their own pace. On this page students practise vocabulary to do with daily activities.

I can ...

At the end of each Workbook spread, the I can statements remind students which goals they should have reached. If they feel they need more practice, they can use the Online Practice materials (see page 19 of this book).

MY TYPICAL DAY

I work in a hospital lab and my days are very busy - I ¹ get up at 5.45 every morning and I ² go to the bathroom. Then my wife ³ cooks for me and our two kids - I usually have fruit juice and yogurt, sometimes toast. After that, I ⁴ drive in my car - I often ⁵ listen to the car radio because it's relaxing.

I work from 7 a.m. till 3.30 p.m. At twelve o'clock, I stop and I ⁶ eat a sandwich and an apple, usually. At 3.45 p.m., I ⁷ go home. On Fridays, my wife and I like to go out and we often ⁸ go to see people at the end of the week, but during the week we stay at home in the evening.

After dinner, I like to relax. I often ⁹ watch TV with the children on my laptop computer and my wife ¹⁰ reads a magazine. We sometimes ¹¹ play if there is an interesting programme or film. I'm usually tired at 11 p.m., so that's when I ¹² go to bed.

STUDY TIP Make true sentences about your life to practise new vocabulary, e.g. I always get up at half past seven. I never play computer games. Write the new vocabulary and your sentences in your notebook.

Grammar

In the Workbook, students find further practice of the grammar which they learnt in the corresponding lesson of the Coursebook. This page contains more exercises on the present simple and adverbs of frequency as introduced in the Coursebook.

4.5 Reading for pleasure

The museums of Manhattan

statue, sculpture, painting, statue, statue

2 Read the extract from the Guardian. New York is described as the Museum City of the World. It has thousands of museums and galleries in Manhattan, an area of New York City.

There are more than sixty museums in Manhattan. Some are open late into the evening, and some are free. The Metropolitan Museum of Art, 'The Met', is New York's biggest museum, and is on Fifth Avenue. It has more than two thousand years of art, from ancient Egypt to the present. There is a garden of statues, too. Perhaps you can imagine it as a museum of art. At the Whitney Museum of American Art at 945 Madison Avenue you can see pictures by Edward Hopper, Georgia O'Keeffe, Jasper Johns, Willem de Kooning and many more American artists. The Museum of Modern Art (MoMA) is at 11 West 53rd Street. It has the world's biggest collection of modern art. There are six floors of pictures, photographs and statues. Two of the most famous pictures are Manet's Olympia and Picasso's Les Femmes d'Alger.

The Museum of the City of New York on Fifth Avenue, at 101st Street, tells the story of New York from its beginning. Watch the Manhattan movie, and visit the exhibition Jefferson about the New York theatre.

The Guggenheim Museum is also on Fifth Avenue, at 1045 Street. The museum opened in 1959. You can see the work of Picasso, Kandinsky, Mondrian and other modern artists in this strange but wonderful museum.

metropolitan museum of art, museum of the city of New York, statue, New York

- You can see statues at the Guggenheim Museum.
- The Metropolitan Museum has thousands of paintings and there are statues outside in the museum garden.
- Go to the Metropolitan Museum of Art to learn about New York from the past to the present.
- One of Manet's most famous paintings is at the Metropolitan Museum of Art.
- The Whitney Museum is a good place to see pictures by American artists.

4 Answer the questions.

- Which Manhattan museum would you like to visit?
- What famous museum and art galleries are there in your country?
- What sort of things can you see in them?

Also in the Workbook

Reading for pleasure

The Reading for pleasure and Listening for pleasure pages appear once every two units in the Workbook. They offer students an opportunity for extensive reading or listening supported by a few exercises to ensure understanding. Here the students read an extract from a book about New York.

Review

As well as a Review page in every unit of the Coursebook, Navigate Workbook offers another chance for students to check what they have learnt with a Review page once every two units.

Navigate content overview

Teacher's Guide and Teacher's Support and Resource Disc

The Teacher's Guide and Teacher's Support and Resource Disc Pack is a complete support package for teachers. It is designed for both experienced and new teachers and offers a wealth of resources to supplement lessons with Navigate.

What's in the Teacher's Guide?

The Teacher's Guide contains thorough teaching notes for teachers to follow as they go through the Coursebook in their lessons. Answer keys are provided to all activities where appropriate and the audioscripts are embedded within the teaching notes for ease of reference.

As well as this, though, the Teacher's Guide offers numerous ideas and extra support in the shape of the following features, to be found throughout the teaching notes:

- Lead-in: an extra activity at the start of every unit to encourage engagement with the topic of the unit.
- Extra activity: an activity that offers an alternative approach to the one in the Coursebook for variety or to tailor the material to a specific teaching situation.
- Extension: an idea on how to extend the activity in the Coursebook, useful especially if learners have shown a strong interest in that topic.
- Extra support/Extra challenge: These are alternative ways of doing an activity where more staging may be required for learners who are struggling, or to keep stronger learners occupied in mixed-ability classes.
- Pronunciation: tips and notes for teaching pronunciation.
- Watch out!: potentially problematic language points or language that learners might ask about.
- Feedback focus: guidelines on what to monitor in an activity and how to give feedback.
- Dictionary skills: moments when it may be useful to develop learners' dictionary skills and ideas on how to do it.
- Smart communication: tips on small talk, appropriacy, and communication strategies.
- Critical thinking: strategies to analyse and evaluate what learners read and hear, their work and that of their peers.
- Study tips: tips to help learners assimilate what they have learnt.

The Teacher's Guide also includes the following features:

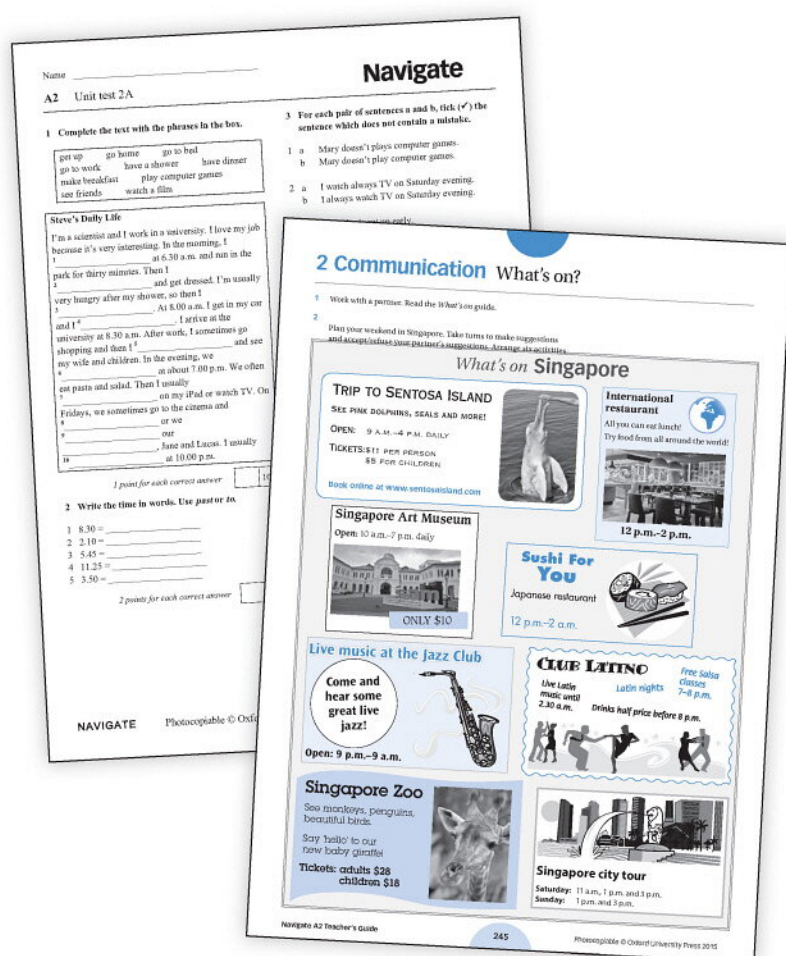

- Essays by influential authors and experts in the fields of reading, listening, grammar, the CEFR, testing and photocopiable materials. These essays have been written by people who have contributed to the development of material used in Navigate.
- Photocopiable materials: Extra grammar, vocabulary and communication activities as photocopiable worksheets.
- Photocopiable worksheets to accompany the Vox pops videos found on the Coursebook DVD.

What's on the Teacher's Support and Resource Disc?

- Lesson overview videos: Catherine Walter, Navigate Series Adviser, offers one-minute overviews of each of the main lessons of the Coursebook, including the methodology behind it and the benefit to the learner.

- Tests: a full range of Unit, Progress and Exit tests to enable you and your students to monitor progress throughout their course. Available in PDF and Word format, and in A/B versions. See page 32 of this book for more details.
- MP3 audio for all of the tests.
- All of the photocopiable material that is found at the back of the Teacher's Guide as downloadable PDFs.
- Wordlists (A-Z and unit-by-unit)
- Audioscripts in Word of all Coursebook, Workbook and Test audio.
- Student study record: a self-assessment form to be filled in by the student after each unit is completed.

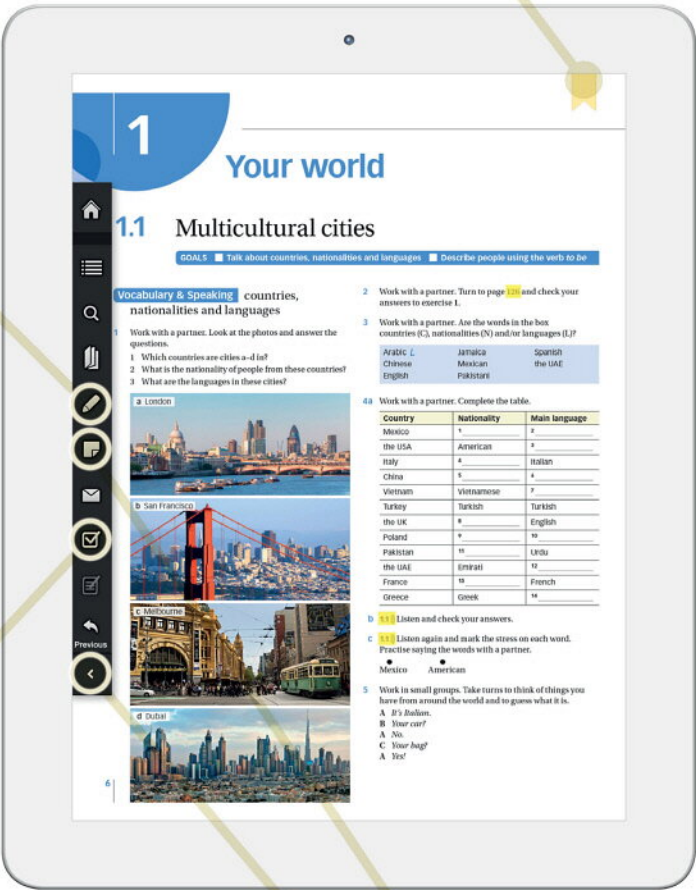

e-books

The Navigate e-books are digital versions of the Coursebooks and Workbooks. Learners study online on a computer or on a tablet, and their work is safely saved in the Cloud. The Navigate e-book Teacher's edition is the Coursebook with integrated teacher's notes as well as selected pop-up images. You can use it as a classroom presentation tool.

In the Navigate e-book Teacher's edition, the teacher's notes from the Teacher's Guide can be called up on the page where the information is needed.

Automatic marking helps learners check progress and learn from their mistakes. They can also email a page to you to mark or to add to their learning portfolio.

The sticky note can be used to place comments with an exercise. These comments can either be written or recorded and can be placed anywhere on the page.

This tool allows the user to move back to the original page. For instance, if the user has moved from a lesson page to a Grammar reference page, clicking on this arrow will move the reader automatically back to the page they came from.

To access an e-book:

- 1 Go to www.oxfordlearnersbookshelf.com.
- 2 To use your e-books on a tablet, download the app, and register or log in.
- To use your e-books on a computer, register or log in to the website.
- 3 Note: After you register, you can use your e-books on both a computer and a tablet.
- 4 Choose Add a book.
- 5 Enter your access code.

Watch this video for help on registering and using e-books: www.brainshark.com/oup/OLBgetstarted

The listening materials that go with the course play straight from the page and are placed with the exercise where they are needed. The user can slow the material down to hear each word clearly and then speed up again. In addition, learners can improve pronunciation by listening to the audio, record their own and then compare to the original. The e-books also contain video material which can be played straight from the Video lesson page. The video material can be played full screen, or split screen to move around the pages and complete activities as you watch.

Many images in the Navigate e-book Teacher's edition can be enlarged by clicking on the image. This functionality can be used in class to discuss particular images in detail or to aid completion of exercises that go with the photos.

Navigate content overview

iTools

Navigate iTools is a digital tool, specifically designed for use on whiteboards, that can also be used with data projectors, and PCs or laptop computers. Pages from the Coursebook and Workbook are seen on screen with various tools to help the teacher present the material in class.

This tool appears with each exercise and allows the teacher to discuss an exercise in class whilst calling up the answers. Clicking on the key will pop up a box containing the exercise rubric and spaces which can hold the answers when you click on the relevant buttons in the bottom of the box. There are three options: 'see next answer', 'see all answers', and 'hide all answers'.

The Grammar reference page can be reached by clicking on the book icon placed near the Grammar focus box. The user jumps to the relevant Grammar reference page and can return to the original page again by using the arrow button at the bottom of the page.

The screenshot displays the Navigate iTools interface. The main content area shows a lesson page titled '2 My day' and '2.1 A day in the life of a scientist'. The page includes a 'Listening & Grammar' section with a 'present simple and adverbs of frequency' focus. A 'GRAMMAR FOCUS' box highlights 'adverbs of frequency'. A 'Vocabulary & Speaking' section includes 'daily activities'. A 'HOMEWORK FOR MONDAY' box is visible on the right. The interface features a sidebar menu with 'Books', 'Resources', 'Bookmarks', and 'Flipcharts'. A bottom toolbar contains navigation icons and the 'OXFORD' logo. A 'Vox Pops Video 2' icon is also present.

Resources

Navigate iTools includes a number of resources for use in the classroom:

- The Vox pops worksheets.
- Photocopiable materials from the Teacher's Guide are available to download here, as are wordlists.
- New Grammar Powerpoint presentations for display on your whiteboard help you teach the grammar from the Coursebook in a more interactive way.

This tool allows the teacher to play the audio material that is relevant to the exercise. The teacher can also reveal the audio script so that students can read along whilst they listen.

Video can be played on your whiteboard by clicking the icon.

Online practice

Our online practice courses give your learners targeted extra practice at the level that's right for them. Supported by the online Learning Management System, teachers and administrators can assign media-rich activities for the classroom or at home, and measure learners' progress.

Each learning module uses a step-by-step process, engaging learners' interest, then encouraging them to explore, practise and reflect on their learning.

Learners can study independently with a wide range of support materials: Cultural glossaries, Language models, Wordlists, Grammar and Vocabulary Reference, hints and tips, automatic marking and instant feedback.

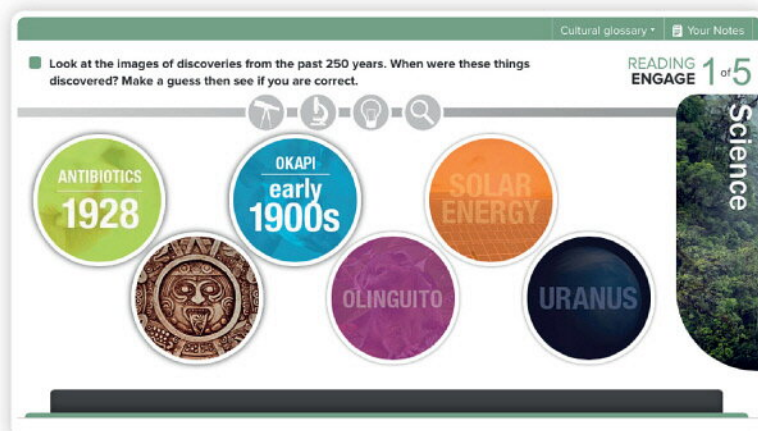

You can monitor your learners' progress with a variety of management tools, including a Gradebook and User Progress statistics.

Create your own new content to meet the needs of your learners, including speaking and writing tasks, tests, discussions and live chat. You can also upload videos, audio and PowerPoint® presentations.

Oxford Online Skills

(General English, Bundle 2)

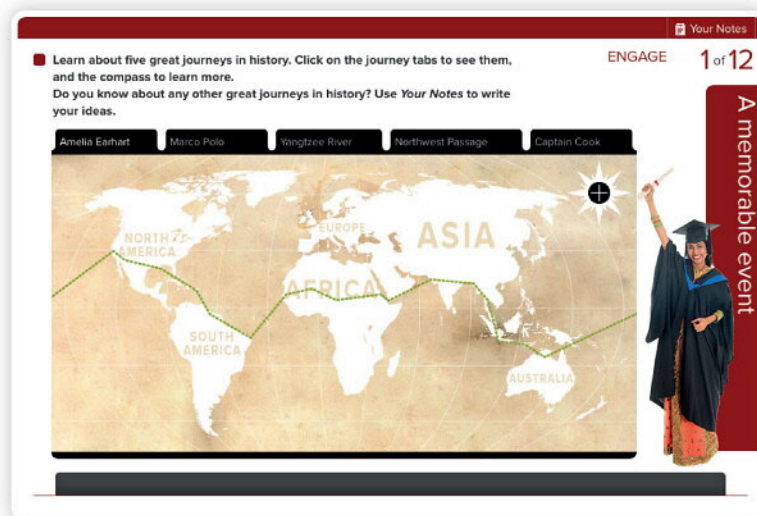

Helps learners focus on developing their Listening, Speaking, Reading and Writing skills, in the classroom or at home

- Engage learners with 30 hours of media-rich activities per level, including videos, interactive infographics and striking photography, on culturally diverse topics.
- Topics complement those found in Navigate. For example: My family, the past, giving opinions, writing emails or blog posts.
- Learners' access codes come on a special card included with their Coursebook.
- Variety of top-up materials if you'd like more skills practice for your learners. Choose more modules for general English with General English Bundle 1, or focus on Academic English, all four skills or paired skills (Reading & Writing, Listening & Speaking). The choice is yours. Find out more at www.oup.com/elt.

Oxford Online Language Practice

Puts the spotlight on building up learners' vocabulary and grammar

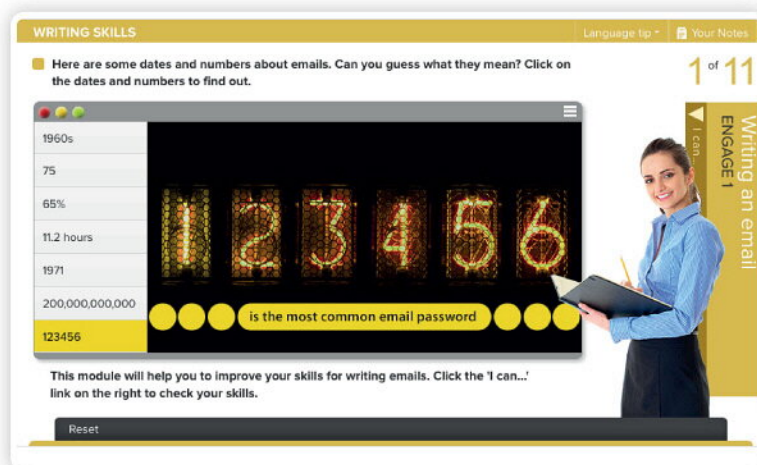

- With a topic-based approach, grammar and vocabulary is integrated in a meaningful and contextualized learning journey.
- Topic areas reflect those commonly found in Adult general English courses, and include Education, Personality, Work, Holidays, Storytelling, Crime and Entertainment.
- Comprehensive support for learners in every Module, with printable grammar and vocabulary references and wordlists, and notes on key differences in American and British English.
- Each CEFR level includes 12 Modules and 25 hours of learning and practice material.

Learners' access codes come on a special card included with Navigate Pack 3. If you do not have Pack 3, you can buy this course online from www.oup.com/elt.

Oxford English for Work

Telephoning, Socializing and Writing Skills

- Each level includes three skills: Telephoning, Socializing and Writing.
- Activities are highly practical and immediately transferable to the workplace.

Learners' access codes come on a special card included with Navigate Pack 3. If you do not have Pack 3, you can buy this course online from www.oup.com/elt.

The Navigate approach – Reading

Reading tomorrow's text better – Catherine Walter

Learning to play beautiful music does not start with playing beautiful music. No one would expect to start learning the cello by trying to play a concerto; rather, they would learn how to use the bow and to finger the notes, to transition quickly and accurately from one note to another, to relate the musical notation on the page with the physical movements needed to play, and to work on making all that happen smoothly.

In the same way, becoming skilled at reading comprehension in a second language is not best achieved solely by practising comprehension. Of course, the goal of reading activities in an English language course is to help learners achieve better comprehension of the English language texts that they read. However, this does not mean that all of the activities in the classroom should be comprehension activities.

To read well in a second language, readers need to decode written text accurately and fluently (Grabe, 2009). Accurate decoding means being able to make a connection between the words on the page, how they sound and what they mean. Making a connection between the written words and how they sound is important because readers of alphabetic languages immediately convert what they read to silent speech in their minds, using that silent speech to build a mental representation of the text (Gathercole & Baddeley, 1993).

- Second language readers need practice in matching common spellings and the way they sound, and they need to recognize common words that are spelt irregularly.

Just as fluent playing of a piece of music is not only achieved by playing it again and again, but by playing scales and doing other exercises, fluency in reading comprehension is not best achieved only by extensive reading – although this has a part to play. Fluency development activities can help (Nation, 2009).

- Second language readers need to focus on reading fast and without hesitation.

Knowing how the words sound is useless if the reader does not know what the words mean. Contrary to popular myth, skilled readers who are reading a text for information or pleasure do not spend a lot of time guessing unknown words, because they already know all the words. Skilled readers do not sample bits of the text and deduce what the rest of the text means; they process the entire text, rapidly and automatically (Grabe, 2009). Skilled readers do not use context to infer meaning as often as less-skilled readers do: they do not need to, because they know the words (Juel, 1999). Second language readers who guess unknown words usually guess them wrongly (Bensoussan & Laufer, 1984). To read a text comfortably without using a dictionary, second language readers need to know the meanings of 98% of the words in a text (Hu & Nation, 2000). Note that topic familiarity cannot compensate for second language proficiency (Jensen & Hansen, 1995).

- Second language readers need to learn the most common and useful words at their level, and they need to be able to recognize them quickly and automatically.
- They need to be aware of vocabulary systems, such as how prefixes and suffixes work, so that they can recognize word families, and can learn more vocabulary independently.
- More time should be spent on learning vocabulary than on learning to guess unknown words; teaching about guessing unknown words should be strategic.
- Activating learners' prior knowledge about a text they are about to read has a very limited effect on how well they will understand it.

To read well, second language readers need to be able, accurately and fluently, to break down the grammar of the sentences they are reading. They also need to know how these sentences are put together to make a text. Recognizing how sentences are assembled in a text means, for example, recognizing the uses of determiners like this and that, of words like which that link one part of a sentence to another, of expressions like on the other hand that say what the writer thinks about what follows.

- Texts for language learners should contain high-frequency grammatical features in natural contexts.
- Second language readers should learn how ideas are linked within texts, e.g. with pronouns, lexical links and discourse markers.

Paul Nation (2009) points out that what happens in many second language reading activities is that the learners are helped to understand the text in front of them. Nation says that the question for the teacher of reading should rather be:

How does today's teaching make tomorrow's text easier to read?

This is the aim of many of the teaching activities in Navigate. Some of the activities that contribute to better reading are not specifically labelled as reading activities. For example, there is work on matching spelling and sounds. There is a carefully staged vocabulary syllabus based on the Oxford 3000™ list of frequent and useful words (Oxford University Press, 2014). There is regular work on vocabulary systems.

In addition, each reading text

- has intrinsic interest, so that learners will want to read it
- contains high-frequency, useful vocabulary
- contains useful grammatical features in natural contexts
- exemplifies features of natural connected texts.

Generally, the reading texts in Navigate are the starting point for intensive language-focused learning of reading skills. That is to say, the activities surrounding them are part of a structured programme which aims to prepare learners to read the next text they will encounter more skilfully.

The activities do this by

- helping learners to read more accurately and/or more fluently
- focusing on aspects of the current text that commonly occur in other texts
- prompting learners to understand and reflect upon the ways in which important grammar and discourse features are exemplified in the text
- concentrating on working with features that occur more often in written than spoken language
- providing activities that help learners to understand the text as a whole
- providing teacher and learner with information about the learner's performance, as a basis for future work.

All these teaching activities contribute to a structured programme which will move learners more efficiently towards becoming better readers of English.

Reading in Navigate

Navigate includes micro-skills work on reading, helping learners to identify common aspects of reading texts, which in turn enables them to develop their reading skills in general. These Unlock the code boxes identify some specific areas of reading skills that are exploited in lesson 3 in six of the units.

UNLOCK THE CODE

understanding conjunctions

- Understanding conjunctions in sentences, e.g. and, but, because, and or, helps you understand a text.
- We use:
 - and with similar ideas
 - or with two or more choices or possibilities
 - because to say why something happens
 - but to contrast two different pieces of information.

UNLOCK THE CODE

pronoun referencing

The first time we talk about a thing or person we usually use the noun. After that we often refer to it using a pronoun because we don't want to repeat the same noun.

Where's my pen? I can't find it.

it = pen

My grandparents are French. They live in Paris.

They = my grandparents

UNLOCK THE CODE

time sequencers

Writers often use time sequencers to show the order in which something happens, e.g. first, next, then. If you understand these phrases, it is easier to understand what comes next in the text.

TWIN VILLAGE

Kodinhi is a small village in Kerala in south India. It's a typical village, but its people are not typical. Two thousand families live here and 290 families have twins. In India seven babies in 1,000 are twins, but in Kodinhi, forty-five babies in 1,000 are twins.

Mohammed Rāshin's family is from Kodinhi. He and his wife have seven boys. Four of their sons are twins. Mohammed says, 'My wife and I are very happy with our family. Everyone in the village is happy.'

But why are there so many twins in Kodinhi? How is it possible? No one really has an answer, but the village doctor says it isn't genetic; he thinks it's something in the water or the food.

- typical a good example of something that's usual, normal, average
- genetic things that come from your parents, like blue eyes or brown hair

This approach is used in combination with a more top-down approach to reading where students read content-rich texts as vehicles for grammar or vocabulary learning, and to stimulate discussion on a topic of general interest to adults. All reading texts have been carefully graded. Vocabulary level in the texts is checked against CEFR levels to ensure that only a minimum number of words are above the level expected to be understood by learners at the level of the Coursebook.

The Navigate approach – Listening

Training better listeners – John Field

In the early days of ELT, listening was mainly employed as a means of presenting new language in a dialogue context. In time, teachers and teacher trainers came to recognize the importance of teaching the four skills for their own sake, but there remained the problem of precisely how to do it. For listening, they fell back on a method widely used in L1 and L2 reading, as well as in early listening tests – namely the comprehension question. More enlightened teachers played short sections of a recording and asked oral comprehension questions; but coursebook materials often relied on a conventional lesson format where the teacher sets comprehension questions in advance of listening, plays a three- or four-minute recording and then checks answers.

This approach became very entrenched in ELT methodology, but it was not without its critics. The most commonly expressed reservation was that it tested listening rather than teaching it. Other drawbacks were less often mentioned. The method is very teacher centred. The comprehension questions are often in written form so that the task taps into reading as well as listening. The focus on ‘comprehension’ diverts attention from the fact that there is much more to listening than just the end-product. Above all, if a learner gives the right answer to a question, it tells us nothing about the way in which they arrived at that answer, so we cannot help them to listen better.

Today, listening instruction has moved on. Current approaches treat listening as a form of expertise, like driving a car or learning chess. A novice trying to acquire expertise in any skill starts out by needing to focus a lot of attention on the basic processes that make up the skill (in the case of listening, an L2 learner might need to concentrate on just recognizing words). With time and practice, however, these basic processes become more and more automatic and demand less attention. This enables the novice to perform more efficiently – in the case of the L2 listener, to switch attention from word recognition to building up a wider picture of the speaker’s purpose and the conversation as a whole.

This perspective suggests the need to practise the fundamentals of the listening skill as intensively as possible in the early stages of a teaching programme. It also suggests the wisdom of reserving some of the more complex processes associated with context, interpretation or line of argument for higher-level learners.

L2 listeners’ needs can be tackled in three ways

Exposure to the input

Learners need to hear short clips which illustrate some of the phonetic features of English that prevent listeners from recognizing words. Words in connected speech do not have standard forms like they do in writing. Because speakers take short cuts in producing them, they are often subject to elision (didn’t → ‘dint’), assimilation (ten pounds → ‘tem pounds’), liaison (tie up → ‘tieyup’, go out → ‘gowout’) or resyllabification (find out → ‘fine doubt’). Words that are of lesser importance in an utterance are often reduced. Function words in English have weak forms (have, of, a and are can all be represented by the single weak sound schwa /ə/), and words in commonly occurring chunks of language often get downgraded in prominence (Do you know what I mean? can be reduced to as little as ‘Narp mean?’).

The best way of dealing with these perceptual problems is by using small-scale exercises that focus on examples of just one of the features mentioned. The teacher reads aloud these examples or plays a recording of them and learners transcribe them. But this is no conventional dictation exercise: it employs speech that is as natural as possible, not read-aloud; and learners are not penalized for spelling errors. For examples, see Field, 2008: Chap. 9.

Training in expertise

Psycholinguistic models of listening have demonstrated that the skill demands five distinct operations:

- Decoding: matching the signals that reach our ears to the sound system of the language
- Lexical search: matching groups of sounds to words in our oral vocabulary
- Parsing: combining groups of words into grammatical units to obtain a simple point of information
- Meaning construction: interpreting the information in terms of context and the goals of the speaker
- Discourse construction: adding the information to what has gone before.

All five can be practised by means of small-scale exercises. In terms of lexical search, a major challenge when listening to any language is that there are no consistent gaps between words in connected speech like those in writing. It is the listener who has to decide where one word ends and the next begins (Field, 2003). A useful exercise is therefore for the learner to listen to a short passage of natural speech and write down any words that he/she has recognized, then to replay the passage several times, each time adding more words. This kind of task is best done at the learner’s own pace – for homework or in a listening centre. Parsing can be practised by playing half of a sentence and asking learners to use what they have heard so far to predict the rest. Discourse construction can be practised by asking learners to fill in a blank Table of Contents form. For multiple examples of these exercise types, see Field 2008: Chaps. 10–13.

Compensating for gaps

It has been suggested that lower-level L2 learners need a great deal of practice in cracking the code of speech before they can move on to building more complex meanings. This takes time, and learners feel frustrated when, despite their listening instruction, they find they understand little of what they hear on the internet or on TV, DVD and film. There is thus a further need to train learners (especially adults) in strategies which enable them to make the most of the little they are able to extract from a piece of real-world speech, at least until their listening improves. In one type of strategy practice, they listen to a short recording, try to work out the gist of what they have heard, share ideas in pairs, and then listen again (perhaps more than once) in order to check if they were right and to add new information. This type of task helps learners who dislike the uncertainty of not recognizing every single word, by encouraging them to make guesses. It also helps those who are more willing to take risks, by making them check their (sometimes rash) guesses against what comes next. The fact is that listening to speech (even in one's first language) is always a highly approximate process. Because words in speech vary so much, all listeners keep having to form hypotheses about what they have heard and revising those hypotheses as they hear more.

The tasks that have been suggested in this three-pronged approach focus on particular components of listening and are mainly small scale (some constituting just 5 minutes of intensive practice). So where does that leave the conventional comprehension task? Well, we do still need it. We need it in order to integrate many of the processes that have been mentioned. They do not operate in isolation and a listener has to learn to use them in conjunction with each other. The traditional comprehension recording also provides exposure to a wide range of voices, either in conversation or monologue. Adjusting to unfamiliar voices is a part of listening that we take for granted in our first language; but it can be demanding when the speaker is talking in a second language.

But we should perhaps rethink some aspects of the traditional comprehension task. Teachers and materials providers need to draw more heavily on authentic material – or at least use studio material that resembles natural speech in its pausing patterns, hesitations, overlaps, false starts, etc. Careful thought also needs to be given to the role of the comprehension question. It is quite possible to design questions that tap specifically into one of the five levels of processing identified above. This should be done in a way that reflects the capabilities of learners, with an emphasis at lower levels on questions that target word-level cues and factual information.

Listening in Navigate

The approach to listening in Navigate draws significantly on John Field's research, through a carefully graded listening skills syllabus focusing on features of the spoken language. These decoding skills for listening can be found in the skills development lessons and include the following areas:

UNLOCK THE CODE positive and negative contractions

- When we speak, we often use contractions, e.g. I'm, she isn't, etc. It is important to understand the difference between the positive and negative forms of the verb.
- The verb to be is not stressed in positive sentences.
He's Australian. I'm Chinese.
- In negative sentences not, isn't and aren't are stressed.
She's not Polish. It isn't my family name. They aren't friends.

UNLOCK THE CODE (1) the schwa /ə/ sound in words

Many words have an unstressed syllable that is usually pronounced with a schwa /ə/ sound. The sound is often (but not always) on the last syllable.

farmer, woman, hairdresser, salary, agree

UNLOCK THE CODE understanding similar vowel sounds

- Vowel sounds can sound very similar to each other when you listen.

/æ/	/eɪ/	/e/
man	main	men
/ɒ/	/ʌ/	/əʊ/
not	nut	note
/e/	/ɪ/	/i:/
set	sit	seat

- Listening for the general meaning of the sentence can help you understand the correct word.

The ~~not~~/nut/note says 'Wait here'.

The Navigate approach – Grammar

Grammar: What is the best way to learn it? – Catherine Walter Attitudes towards planned grammar teaching vary across the world. Some attitudes derive from theoretical stances that have not stood the test of time; yet they persist, here and there, in teacher education programmes, in national advice to teachers and in some language teaching materials.

One of the problems here may well be memories of classrooms where students learnt grammar rules, but didn't use them in communicative activities. It became clear that this was not a good way for learners to become good communicators in their second language. This led to proposals in which learning of grammar rules was seen as counterproductive.

One idea that emerged was that grammar should be taught only when the need for a particular grammar feature emerged spontaneously. The idea was that in the course of a communicative activity, the learner would want to say something, but lacked the necessary grammar. This was seen as the perfect time for the teacher to offer that grammar. However, there are three problems here. Firstly, in a classroom, different learners may be ready for a grammar point at different times. Secondly, it is not possible to construct a series of tasks from which every important grammar feature will emerge. Thirdly, classrooms are unpredictable. If the teacher is depending on what emerges in class for the whole grammar syllabus, they need to be able to give a clear, accurate, level-appropriate explanation of any feature that happens to emerge. This is not an easy task, and the chances of a teacher's improvising consistently good rules are small.

Some writers have proposed eliminating the teaching of grammar altogether. Krashen (1982) held that learners only need comprehensible input, a bit more advanced than the language they can already produce. He claimed that this would lead learners progressively towards proficiency. This approach has been clearly shown not to work, in careful studies by researchers such as Swain (1985) and Genesee (1987).

Another proposal is the Natural Order Hypothesis (Meisel, Clahsen & Pienemann, 1981): the idea that there is a natural developmental sequence for acquiring second language grammar features, no matter the order of teaching. This hypothesis has some evidence behind it, although only for a very few structures of the language. Even for those few structures, Goldschneider and DeKeyser (2005) demonstrated in a rigorous meta-analysis that the developmental order is strongly predicted by salience – how much the feature stands out in the language. Given this finding, it is clear that making a grammar feature more salient to the learner, for example by explicit teaching, should be a way of fostering learning.

It has also been claimed that peer-peer support, where students in a class help one another to learn, is an effective way of teaching grammar. This is based on a sound framework (Vygotsky, 1978), but the framework supposes an expert-novice pair, not two novices. Research has described some interesting interactions; but the peers almost always come up with a non-standard grammar form.

One respected framework for language acquisition that supports explicit grammar teaching is the input-interaction-output framework, in which the learner is gradually pushed to restructure their internal second language grammar so it approaches standard grammar more closely. Here, explicit grammar teaching is seen as valuable because it

- helps learners to notice grammar features in the input
- encourages learners to notice the differences between how they say something and how proficient speakers say it
- provides information about what doesn't happen in the language.

Another strong current approach, task-supported instruction, holds that it is important for learners to use their language in tasks, where the main focus is on meaning, but where the learners need to interact in their second language to reach an outcome. Early on, it was hoped that tasks would be enough to make grammar emerge. However, all serious scholars working in this paradigm (e.g. Skehan, 2003; Willis & Willis, 2007) now agree that pre-task and post-task explicit focus on grammar is necessary.

In a skills-based approach, where language learning is seen like learning to drive or to play a musical instrument, teaching grammar rules is highly valued. Learning the rules is seen as a precursor to being able to use those rules. As DeKeyser (1998) says, while you are learning to walk the walk, the rule is a crutch to lean on.

However, these are theories. What about the evidence? There have been rigorous meta-analyses finding that:

- explicit teaching of grammar rules yields better results than implicit teaching (Norris & Ortega, 2000)
- explicit teaching yields better results for both simple and complex forms (Spada and Tomita, 2010)
- explicit teaching of rules, combined with communicative practice, leads to unconscious knowledge of the grammar forms that lasts over time (Spada and Lightbown, 2008)
- there is no difference in results between integrating the teaching of rules with a communicative activity and teaching them separately (Spada and Tomita, 2010). In other words, presentation-practice-production works just as well as more integrated methods.

To summarise: there is theoretical support and hard evidence that teaching grammar rules, combined with communicative practice, is the best way for adults in classrooms to learn to use the grammar of their new language.

Navigate often teaches rules 'inductively': learners are given a bank of examples of the rule. Then they see part of the rule and are guided to think about how to complete it. There is evidence that for appropriate rules this works as well, and perhaps better, than giving the rule first (e.g. VanPatten & Oikonen, 1996; Ming & Maarof, 2010).

Navigate also provides a wealth of communicative activities where the focus is on meaning, but which are structured so as to encourage the use of the rules that have been taught. This provides the second ingredient of the recipe that has been shown to be the best way for adults to learn to become more proficient users of second language grammar.

Grammar teaching in Navigate

Grammar is taught in context through texts and audio recordings, and then followed up with Grammar focus boxes which offer the rules of the grammar point in a succinct and level-appropriate way.

Exercises to practise the grammar point offer controlled practice, and a speaking task gives learners the opportunity to reproduce the grammar point in a semi-controlled way.

The Grammar reference section at the back of the Coursebook offers more detailed grammar explanations and further controlled practice, to give learners as much opportunity as possible to assimilate the grammar point.

Grammar & Listening past simple questions

The Navigate approach – Vocabulary

Vocabulary and the Oxford 3000

Vocabulary is a crucial area of adult language learning and Navigate puts a strong emphasis on it. As well as useful and transferable vocabulary sets that allow students to speak in some detail and depth on general topics, there is a dedicated page in every unit on vocabulary development which covers areas like word families, prefixes or suffixes, collocations and fixed expressions.

In developing the vocabulary syllabus across the six levels of Navigate, special attention was paid to the Oxford 3000 – a tool to help teachers and learners focus on the key vocabulary needed to become proficient in English. The Oxford 3000 is integrated into the vocabulary syllabus and items from the coursebook that appear in the Oxford 3000 are indicated by a key symbol in the wordlists found on the Student's DVD, the Coursebook e-book, and on the Teacher's Support and Resource Disc. As you would expect, at the lower levels of Navigate a high proportion of words on these wordlists are in the Oxford 3000, and as students progress through the course to higher levels they will learn more vocabulary that sits outside this core 3000.

But what exactly is the Oxford 3000? Read on to find out.

The Oxford 3000 – The words students need to know to succeed in English

Which words should students learn to succeed in English?

The English language contains literally thousands of words and, as language teachers or language learners, it is often difficult to know which words are the most important to learn. To help with this, Oxford University Press's ELT dictionary team created the Oxford 3000 – a list of the 3000 words that students really need to know in English. It was drawn up in collaboration with teachers and language experts. The Oxford 3000 words are included in most OUP learner's dictionaries, including the Oxford Advanced Learner's Dictionary.

The Oxford 3000 words are marked with a key in OUP's learner's dictionaries, and are available on the www.oxfordlearnersdictionaries.com website. You can look up the entry for each word, and hear it pronounced in either British or American English. At elementary level OUP learner's dictionaries focus on the Oxford 2000, which includes 2000 of the words on the Oxford 3000 list.

How was the Oxford 3000 created?

There were three key requirements in creating the Oxford 3000:

- 1 sources – to provide evidence of how the English language is actually used
- 2 criteria – to use when analysing the sources
- 3 expertise – to provide insights into the vocabulary needs of learners of English.

1 Sources

The Oxford 3000 is a corpus-based list. A corpus is an electronic database of language from different subject areas and contexts which can be searched using special software. When lexicographers analyse a particular word in the corpus, the corpus shows all of the occurrences of that word, the contexts in which it is used, and the grammatical patterns of the surrounding words.

The Oxford 3000 is informed by the:

- British National Corpus (100 million words)
- Oxford Corpus Collection (developed by Oxford University Press and including different types of English – British English, American English, business English, etc.)

By using this combination of corpora, we can understand how English is currently used, and which words are used most frequently.

2 Criteria

When deciding which words should be in the Oxford 3000, corpus frequency alone was not used as a guide to inclusion. Three core criteria were identified:

- frequency – the words which appear most often in English
- range – the words which appear frequently AND across a broad range of different contexts
- familiarity – words that are not necessarily used the most frequently, but are important in general English.

The combination of frequency, range and familiarity means that the Oxford 3000 is more pedagogically informed than a list of words based on frequency alone. For example, when the corpus was analysed, it was found that we talk about 'Friday' and 'Saturday' more frequently than 'Tuesday' or 'Wednesday'. However, when learning the days of the week, it is useful to learn all of them at the same time – not just the most frequent ones. For this reason, all the days of the week appear in the Oxford 3000.

3 Expertise

A group of lexicographers and around 70 English language teachers from English language schools all over the world worked together on the Oxford 3000, bringing classroom experience and linguistic expertise together to create a list that truly supports the needs of language learners.

Why use the Oxford 3000?

When the research team looked at the corpora using the criteria mentioned above, they found that around 3000 words covered 80–85% of vocabulary in a general English text.

Here are the results of the research into frequency and coverage – that is, how much text is covered by the thousand most frequent words, the next thousand most frequent words, the third thousand most frequent words, and so on.

most frequent word families	coverage	total
1st 1000	74.1%
2nd 1000	7.2%	2000 = 81.3% coverage (74.1% + 7.2%)
3rd 1000	3.9%	3000 = 85.2% coverage (81.3% + 3.9%)
4th 1000	2.4%	4000 = 87.6% coverage (85.2% + 2.4%)
5th 1000	1.8%	5000 = 89.4% coverage (87.6% + 1.8%)
12,500 word families cover 95% of text.

By learning the first 3000 words, students build a very strong vocabulary base which covers a significant majority of the words they will see in texts. The Oxford 3000 therefore provides a useful springboard for expanding vocabulary and is a valuable guide in vocabulary learning. If a learner comes across a new word and it is in the Oxford 3000, they can be sure that it is important to learn it.

Beyond the Oxford 3000

As students advance in their learning, the vocabulary they need will depend on the areas of English that they are interested in. The Oxford 3000 will give them a good base for expanding their lexical knowledge.

Dictionaries and the Oxford 3000

The Oxford 3000 app

Oxford 3000 is a list of the most important and useful words to know in English informed by corpus-based research. In a recent survey, over 60% of teachers told us they believe that learning the Oxford 3000 expands their students' vocabulary. The new Learn the Oxford 3000 app for iPad/iPhone™ helps students learn the Oxford 3000 with practice exercises and tests to check progress.

Oxford Wordpower Dictionary 4th edition

Updated with over 500 new words, phrases and meanings, Oxford Wordpower Dictionary is a corpus-based dictionary that provides the tools intermediate learners need to build vocabulary and prepare for exams. Oxford 3000 keyword entries show the most important words to know in English.

This edition includes Topic Notes, Exam Tips and Writing Tips, and a 16-page Oxford Writing Tutor. Students can search the A-Z dictionary by word or topic on the CD-ROM, and use the exercises to practise for international exams.

Oxford Advanced Learner's Dictionary 9

The Oxford Advanced Learner's Dictionary is the world's best-selling advanced learner's dictionary. The new ninth edition, featuring 185,000 words, phrases and meanings, develops the skills students need for passing exams and communicating in English. It is the ultimate speaking and writing tool, with brand new resources including the Oxford iSpeaker and Oxford Speaking Tutor.

The Navigate approach – Photocopiables

Photocopiable Teacher's Resource Materials – Jill Hadfield

What are photocopiable resource materials?

The resource materials in Navigate Teacher's Guide are one-page photocopiable activities that can be used to provide further practice of the target language in this book. There are 36 activities, divided into three sections: Grammar, Vocabulary and Communication, and they practise the target grammar, lexis and functions in the book.

What types of activity will I find?

There are two main types of activity in the photocopiable materials: linguistic activities and communicative activities.

Linguistic activities focus on accuracy and finding the right answer, inserting the correct word in a gap-fill, for example. These are familiar exercise types and require correct answers which are given in the Answer Key in the Teachers' Notes.

Communicative activities have non-linguistic goals: solving a puzzle or finding differences in two pictures, for example. The emphasis is more on fluency and on using the target language as a means to an end. The communicative activities in this book fall into two types: open-ended activities such as discussions or role plays with no fixed end-point or goal, and closed-task, game-like activities, such as board games or guessing games with a fixed goal.

Why use them?

The activities can be used to provide extra practice or revision in speaking, reading and writing the target language in each unit. The different types of activity provide different types of practice, which will appeal to different learner preferences. The linguistic activities provide practice in recalling the target language and using it accurately, and the communicative activities provide practice in recalling the target language and using it, integrated with other language, to complete a task. Some of these activities are designed with a game-like element: that is, they have a goal such as guessing or solving a problem, which students have to work together to achieve. This provides variety and a change of focus for the students and makes the practice fun and enjoyable. The element of play is also relaxing and lowers the affective filter (Krashen 1987) which makes learners less inhibited and more willing to use the language, and the fact that the activities have a goal is motivating for the learners and gives them a sense of satisfaction when they have achieved the goal. Other activities have a personalization element which is also motivating for the learners and leads to positive affect. Both personalized and playful activities involve the learners in investing more of themselves in the language, leading to deeper processing which helps retention of language items (Schmitt 2000).

When should I use them?

The activities can be used immediately at the end of each relevant section in the book for extra practice. Alternatively, they could be used later in the course for revision or review.

How should I use them?

The activities are for pair, group or whole class mingling work. This means you will have to think carefully about:

- how to arrange the groupings
- how to set up the activities and give instructions
- what your role will be during the activities
- what the different requirements of the 3 different activity types will be regarding monitoring, finishing off the activity and giving feedback.

Classroom layout

If you have desks arranged in groups of tables, you probably will have 4–6 students at each group of tables. This makes pairwork and groupwork easy. Mingling activities can be done in the spaces between the tables, or in a space at the front of the class if tables are pushed back a bit.

If you have desks in a U-shape, adjacent pairs can easily work together. Groups of three and four are best arranged by asking one or two students to move and sit opposite another pair of students. This makes it much easier for students to listen and talk to each other than if they are sitting in a line. Whole class mingling activities are easily arranged by asking students to move to the space in the centre of the U.

Even if you have fixed and immovable desks arranged in rows, you can adapt the arrangement to pair and group work by asking adjacent students to work with each other, or those in the row in front to turn around and work with the students behind them. Whole class mingling activities may cause more of a problem if space is limited, but you can adapt the activities so that only half the class is standing up and moving while the other half remain seated.

Setting up the activities

The activities often have several stages. This means you will have to be very clear in your own mind about how the stages follow each other. Here are some tips for giving instructions:

- Use simple language: simple vocabulary and simple sentence structure.
- One step, one sentence, then pause and make sure they have understood. Very often you may have to give an instruction, then wait for each group or pair to carry it out, before going on with the next, e.g. Take a counter each ... OK ... have you all got a counter? ... Place your counter on the START square ...
- Use checking questions, for example, Are you working in pairs or on your own?
- Use demonstration: show how to carry out an activity by doing it yourself for the class to watch, or by playing the first round of the game with one group while the class watches.

Teacher's role

Your role during the activity will vary. At the start you will be an Instruction Giver. During the activity you will have to be a Monitor, circulating and listening to the students in order to monitor progress, give help where needed, and note errors for feedback at the end of the activity. Depending on your class you may also have to be an Explainer if students have misunderstood what to do (if a number of them have misunderstood, you will need to stop the activity and give the instructions again), or a Controller, if students are off-task or not speaking English. Finally, you will need to stop the activity and give feedback. Your exact role during and at the end of the activities will vary according to the type of activity.

Linguistic activities

Some of these activities are to be done in pairs and some individually. If students are working individually (e.g. for a gap-fill), get them to check their answers in pairs before you give feedback. If they are working in pairs, get them to check with another pair. These activities are accuracy based and have one right answer. This means that you will need to go through the correct answers with the class at the end and explain any problems. It is a good idea to have visual support in the form of answers on the board or on a handout for students who may misunderstand the oral answers.

Communicative activities – open-ended

These activities do not have an outcome or come to a pre-arranged end. You will therefore have to keep a close eye on students to see when they are running out of ideas. If they come to a stop early while you feel the activity has more mileage, you may have to encourage them, or suggest new ideas. You will have to decide when to stop the activity – make sure students have come up with enough ideas, but don't let it go on so long that they get bored. There are no 'right answers' to these activities, so feedback is a matter of 'rounding off' the activity by asking students to share ideas.

Communicative activities – closed task

These game-like activities will come to an end automatically when the goal has been achieved. Some groups may achieve their goal earlier than others. You can keep them occupied by putting groups together and asking them to compare solutions. These activities often have an answer or 'solution', so feedback will involve going through solutions and checking answers in much the same way as for the linguistic activities.

The Navigate approach – The CEFR

The CEFR – Anthony Green

The Common European Framework of Reference for Languages (or CEFR), published by the Council of Europe in 2001, is intended to help teachers and others to develop and connect language syllabuses, curriculum guidelines, examinations and textbooks. It takes what it describes as an ‘action-oriented approach’ to language education: the purpose of learning a language is to enable the learner to communicate increasingly effectively in a growing range of social situations that are relevant to his or her individual needs.

For many educational systems, the CEFR’s concern with effective communication represents a shift in emphasis. Instead of focusing on what learners know about a language – how many words they know or how accurately they can apply grammar rules – the key question for the CEFR is what learners might actually want to do with the language or languages they are learning – the activities they might need to carry out and the ideas they might want to express. Achievement in language learning is measured by the learner’s degree of success in using languages to negotiate their way through the world around them.

Although practical communication is seen to be a fundamental goal, the CEFR does not try to suggest how this goal should be reached. It is not a recipe book that tells course designers what to include or that tells teachers how to teach. Instead, it offers a common set of terms that can apply to learners of different languages in different countries within a variety of educational systems. These common terms make it easier to draw comparisons and connect what happens in language education in one setting to what happens elsewhere.

It is part of the Council of Europe’s educational philosophy of lifelong learning that learners should be able to move easily between informal learning, schools, universities and workplace training courses in different places to pick up and keep track of the practical skills that they need. This is much easier if everyone shares the same basic terms for talking about teaching and learning. If a ‘Beginner’ level class in one school is like an ‘Elementary’ level class in another school, or a ‘Preliminary’ class in a third and the ‘Getting Started’ book in textbook series X is like the ‘Grade 2’ book in series Y, life in the English classroom can soon get very confusing.

Having a shared descriptive language is very useful for course designers because it helps us to see how a particular course can fit into a learner’s individual language learning career. In the CEFR, levels of language ability are set out – running from Basic (A1 and A2), through Independent (B1 and B2) up to Proficient (C1 and C2). These levels are based on teachers’ judgements of the relative difficulty of ‘Can Do’ statements describing how learners are able to use language. For example, at the A1 level a learner, ‘can use simple phrases and sentences to describe where he/she lives and people he/she knows’, but at B2 ‘can present clear, detailed descriptions on a wide range of subjects related to his/her field of interest’. The system helps learners to monitor their progress, find suitable learning materials and identify which qualifications might be within their reach.

Of course, not every learner will need or want to ‘present clear, detailed descriptions on a wide range of subjects’. The framework is not a specification of what learners ought to know, it simply provides examples of what is typically taught and learnt at each level. Users are free (in fact they are encouraged) to add to the comprehensive, but far from exhaustive range of Can Do activities presented. People do not all choose to learn languages for the same reasons: they prioritize different skills and aspire to reach different objectives. Nor does everyone progress in their language learning in quite the same way. Someone who has learnt a language informally while living in a country where that language is spoken may chat confidently with friends and colleagues, but find it more difficult to read a novel. On the other hand, someone who has learnt from books may read and translate with assurance, but struggle to keep up with the dialogue in films.

The framework captures such differences by providing a terminology for the range of social situations where learners may need to use languages and the kinds of knowledge, skills and abilities – competencies – they might bring into play to achieve effective communication. Developing language abilities can involve ‘horizontal’ growth – coping with new contexts for language use – as well as ‘vertical’ progression through the CEFR levels. Horizontal progress could include shifts in the focus for learning between the written and spoken language, between more receptive language use (reading and listening) to more interactive (exchanging text messages and emails or participating in conversation) as well as shifts between different social domains (such as shifting from more academic to more occupational, workplace related language use).

Increasingly, English language textbooks include Can Do objectives derived from the CEFR in each unit. However, unlike Navigate, most have only incorporated the CEFR retrospectively, often after publication. This can certainly help to situate them in relation to other courses and systems of qualifications, but using the framework in the development process can bring much greater benefits. This is because in addition to providing a shared terminology, the framework poses challenging questions that help designers and other users to think about, describe and explain why they choose to learn, teach or assess language abilities in the way that they do. These questions keep the language learner at the heart of every decision. Examples of the wide range of issues that developers are invited to consider include, ‘the communicative tasks in the personal, public, occupational and/or educational domains that the learner will need to tackle’, ‘how communicative and learning activities relate to the learner’s drives, motivations and interests’ and the ‘provision ... made for learners to become increasingly independent in their learning and use of language’.

Although the CEFR can provide us with shared terms, it is clear that people working in different places may sometimes understand the framework in quite different ways. The Can Do statements are inevitably open to a range of interpretations. For example, phrases and sentences that are considered 'simple' by one teacher may seem rather 'complex' to another. There have been complaints that the A2 level represented in one text book is as difficult as the B1 level in another. This has serious implications: if there is not at least a similar understanding of the levels among users of the framework, many of the potential benefits of the CEFR will be lost.

Recognizing the need to build shared interpretations and to provide more concrete guidance, the Council of Europe has called for the production of 'Reference Level Descriptions' which can show in much greater detail how the CEFR applies to specific languages. For English, a good deal of work has already been done. Threshold (first published in 1975, but updated in 1990) is effectively a specification of B1 level objectives. Other books cover CEFR A1 (Breakthrough), A2 (Waystage) and B2 and above (Vantage). All of these are available in print or as free e-books via the English Profile website at www.englishprofile.org. At the same site, you can find information about the ongoing work of English Profile which aims to further build our shared understanding of the CEFR as it applies to English.

To make the most of the CEFR and its place in the Navigate series, I would encourage teachers to learn more about the framework and the ways in which it can help to guide the teaching and learning process (as well as some of the many criticisms that have been made of its use). It is worth taking the time to find out about the overall descriptive scheme as well as the more familiar levels. The best place to start is the Council of Europe Language Policy Division website (www.coe.int/t/dg4/linguistic) where the rather more reader-friendly Guide for Users, the CEFR itself and many related resources can be downloaded free of charge.

Anthony Green is Professor of Language Assessment at the University of Bedfordshire, UK. He has published widely on language assessment issues and his recent book Language Functions Revisited (2012) sets out to fill the gap between the broad descriptions of levels provided in the CEFR and the level of detail required for applications such as syllabus or test design. His main research interests concern the design and use of language assessments and relationships between assessment, teaching and learning.

Reference to the CEFR in Navigate

The contents pages of Navigate Coursebook show not only what language points are taught in each unit, but also what the communicative goals are. Teachers and learners can relate their learning to real-world situations and see at a glance what Can-do activities they will become competent in.

Each lesson shows clear communicative goals.

The Navigate approach – Testing

The Navigate Testing Package – Imelda Maguire-Karayel

As all teachers know, assessment is central to effective syllabus design and is an essential part of effective teaching and learning. It not only allows learners to recognize their achievements and make progress, but it enables instructors to shape and adapt their teaching to specific needs. This is especially true in the case of busy adult learners who often have limited time for attending language courses. Two of the main constructs in modern language testing are validity and practicality. Validity is key, a test has to measure what it claims to, and practicality is essential as tests should be easy both for teachers to administer and learners to take.

The Navigate course comes complete with its own testing package. This is included in the Teacher's Guide and is published in both Word and PDF formats. At each of the six levels, the teacher is provided with a complete set of tests designed to test learners' understanding and proficiency: twelve Unit tests, four Progress tests and one End-of-course test. Reflecting the course ideology, the tasks in the tests present learners with content that is both information rich, and international in flavour, while allowing them to practise newly acquired language in a range of contexts.

Unit tests

The Unit tests measure learners' understanding of the key grammar, vocabulary and decoding skills presented in the unit, the latter being tested in a similar context to the one in the unit. Unit tests are intended to last up to sixty minutes and comprise ten tasks. Greater weight is given to vocabulary and grammar which is tested across five different task types. Vocabulary is typically tested through tasks such as multiple-choice questions, matching sentence endings, gap fill, word formation or first letter tasks. Grammar is tested through tasks such as multiple-choice cloze, open cloze, or right/wrong questions, sentence transformation. The reading and listening decoding skills covered in the third lesson of each unit are tested across two tasks so that teachers and learners can see how effectively they have attained a command of potential blockages to comprehension. The functional language taught in the fourth lesson is also tested in an authentic context.

Each Unit test also includes two exam-style tasks, modelled on those in Cambridge Main Suite exams or IELTS. Tasks include those found in Cambridge English: Key, Preliminary and First, and have been especially written to reflect the theme of the unit. As they give exposure to task format and simulate exam conditions to some extent, the inclusion of the exam-style tasks is likely to be very beneficial for learners who go on to take certificated exams. The exam-type tasks learners will do in the Unit tests include multiple matching, matching headings, note-taking, true/false/not given, sentence transformation, multiple-choice reading comprehension, gapped text, short answer questions and open cloze. The accompanying Answer Key to each test allows busy teachers to mark unit tests quickly and accurately, thereby reducing demands on teachers' time.

Learners take Unit tests once they have completed the corresponding unit, and teachers and learners alike can evaluate if the learning objectives for that particular unit have been achieved. Teachers can then, if necessary, spend more time covering language points which need more attention. If they think it is more appropriate for their learners, teachers may also administer certain sections of the test only to match the sections of the unit that have been covered in class. Times can be adjusted accordingly.

Progress tests

There are four Progress tests in the Navigate testing package, each one intended to last approximately sixty minutes and to be administered after every three units. Progress tests are designed to test learners' proficiency. The content of each Progress test relates to the material covered in the units, but the Progress tests differ from the Unit tests in that they more closely resemble established international English Language exams. The vocabulary and grammar of the three units is tested by task types such as open or multiple-choice cloze. All four language skills are tested in the Progress tests. The Listening tasks comprise two question types, such as true/false, gap fill and multiple choice questions, and can also cover some of the functional language from the three units. The Reading tasks also comprise two different task types, such as multiple matching, true/false/not given or multiple choice. Writing is tested through two tasks; the first is a short task testing discrete language items and the second is a longer task which requires the learner to produce a piece of extended written discourse. Writing tasks are authentic in that they reflect the real-world communication likely to be undertaken by learners. Genres include emails, text messages, form completion and social media posts. The Speaking tasks also assess learners' grasp of the units' functional language by asking them to carry out a transactional role-play based on a set of prompts. It appears at the end of the Progress test on a separate page and can be done at a later time than the rest of the test, either in pairs or with the teacher acting as one of the speakers in the task.

General mark schemes are provided to assist teachers in marking both the Speaking and Writing tasks. Care has been taken to ensure that the topic in each of the tested skills relates to as many units, thereby keeping the face validity of the Progress test high. For example, the content of the Listening section will usually relate to a different unit to the content of the Reading task. The same usually applies in the case of the Speaking and Writing skills.

End-of-course test

The End-of-course test also focuses on the four skills and tests target language from the entire course. As vocabulary and grammar are at the heart of the Navigate syllabus, these language systems are rigorously tested in the End-of-course test through task types such as gap-fill, open cloze and multiple-choice questions, with the course's functional language incorporated across tasks. The main part of the test covers tasks on Vocabulary, Grammar, Reading and Listening. There are 100 points available for the main test. Teachers are also provided with optional Speaking and Writing tests worth 20 points each, so if students take all parts of the test, they can achieve a maximum score of 140. The Writing task can easily be set along with the main test, but this will increase the time needed to complete the test, so teachers may prefer to set that part on a separate occasion. The Speaking tasks can be done at a time that is convenient for the teacher and students. This could be during normal class hours, by giving the class an extended task to do, and then taking pairs of students to a quiet space to do the Speaking test. Or the teacher may wish to set aside a different time for the Speaking test. It is advisable to do the Speaking test as soon as possible after the main test. As in the Progress tests, all tasks are exam-like in nature and general mark schemes are provided.

The Navigate tests are written by experts in the field of language assessment, many of whom also have years of EFL-teaching experience. As the test writers have extensive experience of writing for leading exam boards or assessment bodies, they bring knowledge of good practice in language assessment. The use of assessment experts also means that a consistent approach has been applied throughout the production of the tests. The test writers also contribute a deep understanding of aligning language to the CEFR. The result is a reliable, robust end-to-end testing package, which we are confident teachers and students using Navigate will find useful and rewarding as they work their way through the various levels of the course.

Imelda Maguire-Karayel has over twenty years' experience in ELT. She is an EFL/EAP teacher and teacher-trainer, a materials writer, and an educational consultant for adapting a BBC language education series for television.

She has taught in private language schools, ECIS-accredited schools and universities in Hong Kong, Greece, Turkey and the UK.

She has worked for Cambridge English and now works as an English language assessment consultant in the production of exam materials, exam practice materials, course-based assessment materials, and course books.

She has written course-based assessment and exam practice materials for New Headway (OUP), English File (OUP), Touchstone (CUP), and Foundation IELTS Masterclass (OUP).

The Navigate tests

All the tests for Navigate can be found on the Teacher's Support and Resource Disc that is packaged with the Teacher's Guide.

Tests are supplied as PDFs and as Word documents for those occasions where teachers may wish to edit some sections of the tests. There are A and B versions of each test – the B version containing the same content as the A version but in a different order, to mitigate potential cheating if learners are sitting close to each other whilst doing the test.

Audio MP3 files for the tests are also available on the Teacher's Support and Resource Disc. All tests that contain a listening task begin with this task so that there are no timing issues with the listening during a test.
